Family Life Shown In N. County

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The newness of discussing sex frankly in today's elementary classrooms has shocked and dismayed some parents. But the overwhelming majority of parents support the revolutionary approach to the Family Life Series now being taught to school children.

This was disclosed during a weeklong series of interviews conducted by this newspaper with parents, teachers, school officials and health department representatives.

Sex is a three letter word that has for years been whispered by grownups and hardly ever discussed in the presence of children until they reached "a certain age." And when they reached that plateau these children were then told about the Birds and the Bees. It was much too late in some cases to tell a youngster about such flighty creatures because by then he (and often she) had "problems."

It was decided by experts in recent years that something had to be done, and soon, to provide children, in an honest and sophisticated manner, with real answers to their many and varied questions regarding sex.

One teacher explained how children would insist on asking her "where did I come from" during a class on reproduction of plants and farm animals. One question normally led to another and before the unprepared teacher knew what was happening an avalanche of questions crushed her.

The experts went to work and came up with what they felt (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

'Costs Increase'

Single Can Fee For Residences Upped to $2.40

By WILL E. THOMAS

A 50-cent increase in the residential garbage collection rate in San Bruno was approved by City Council Monday night.

The Council directed the hike be put into effect "as soon as possible" — whenever the city's billing department is able to gear itself for the change.

At that time, the council decreed, the San Bruno Garbage

Company charge for pickup of one can, once a week, would jump from $1.90 to $2.40 a month. The fee for two cans, picked up in front of residences once weekly, will jump from $2.80 to $3.60 monthly, with the twice-monthly pickup of rubbish of one can per home to be continued.

Council approval of the increase followed a month's review of the garbage firm's expenses and revenue by a council committee.

The committee, according to councilmen Neil Crystal and Maurice Hamilton, thought the information justified the increase.

Saul Ross, attorney for the garbage company, said increased labor costs, taxes, depreciation and diminishing uncertainty led to the request for a raise in rates.

Ross described as "very critical" the problem of arranging for another dumpsite — or another method of disposal.

The city left available negotiation of the agreement, to provide a "reasonable rate of return" for the garbage firm, before the three-year contract expires, if there are additional costs in the future.

Richard Griffith suggested there might be a "conflict of interest" in the decision. The citizen charged both verbally and in a newsletter that Councilmen George Corey and Maurice Hamilton, as well as Mayor George Ingham, received financial assistance in elections from Ross.

The accusation of "conflict of interest" was denied in length by Corey, and simply by Hamilton, who declared:

"That's ridiculous, Dick."

'Miss D.C.' Pageantry Attracts 10

Ten girls have entered the "Miss Daly City" competition, pageant officials announced today.

The contest will be held at the Westmoor High School Little Theatre May 29, with radio personality Dean Webber the master of ceremonies.

The contestants include:

Mary Franklin, Melody Franklin, Debra Jean Fortin, Linda Lippl, Linda Hebert, Kathy Scanlon, Jimmie Rance, Sharon Fisher, Dorothy Barragan and Cornelia Carson.

Just as the list of beauties to be judged grows, so is the list of awards the winner will receive. A number of merchandise awards will be offered, as well as scholarships to a modeling school, officials said.

The winner also will represent Daly City in the Miss Fiesta Dream Girl pageant in San Mateo in July.

FLOOD CLAIMS

D.C. Cannot Pay Damages

Legal red tape may prevent 13 householders in the Westlake Park section of Daly City from collecting damages resulting from flooding last January, it was learned this week.

Insurance adjusters for the Pacific Indemnity Company, Daly City's liability brokers, have sent out letters to the claimants indicating they cannot be paid by the city.

The 13 individual claims, ranging from $150 up to $7,043.62, resulted from flooding in the neighborhood following heavy rains last January 29.

Jerry Whitcomb, chief adjuster for the Pacific Indemnity Company, and Vernon Vale, legal counsel, met informally with the city council on Monday to discuss the matter, however, no positive settlement of the claims was agreed on.

Both Whitcomb and Vale agreed, at the insistence of the city council, to further investigate the claims and inform the city of their findings in the near future.

The cause of the flooding was traced to the design of a storm drain line in the area, City Engineer Arthur Reschke said following the flooding.

The system has since been modified, he said.

Special Tax Vote Asked By Jeff El.

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees have asked for a special election to consider raising the present tax in the district 50 cents — from $2.50 to $3.

The last time the tax rate was raised in the district was ten years ago.

"We have reached a point where we must ask the public which way to go," superintendent Frank Greenwood explained to trustees during a regular meeting last week.

He said the proposed 50 cent per $100 of assessed valuation "may carry the district through 1971."

Using an average of $5,000 of assessed valuation per home in the district, Greenwood estimated some $1.8 million could be raised with the tax rate increases — if passed by voters in July.

"We have nothing to apologize for (to the people) for this request," he said. (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Student Journalists

'Most Valuable Staffer' Awards Will Be Presented

Outstanding journalism students from 23 San Mateo County high schools have been selected for the third annual "Most Valuable Staffer" Awards.

The awards are sponsored by The Times newspaper and the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, announced Walter Jack, Times' vice president.

"Most Valuable Staffer" plaques are to be presented to the student at each high school who has made the single greatest contribution to his high school newspaper during the present school year.

The plaques will be formally presented by The Times at a banquet Friday at the Villa Chartier in San Mateo. Winning students will be accompanied by their district superintendents, principals and journalism class advisors. An estimated 85 persons will attend the annual "Most Valuable Staffer" dinner.

North County award winners and their high schools are: Kathleen Knowlton, Westmoor; Maria Montenegro, Terra Nova; Jeannine Taylor, Jefferson; Cathy Stapleton, Oceana; Jamie Horsley, Capuchino; Sue Sawyer, Crestmoor; Melanie Denninger, Mills; Lawrence Cretan, Aragon; Rhoda Blomquist, Pescadero; Stephen P. Johnson, Serra; Jacquelyn Stone, El Camino; Richard Posner, South San Francisco; Vickie Emerson, Half Moon Bay.

Woman Gets Award-Saved Child's Life

The American Red Cross honored a Jefferson Elementary School District secretary last Tuesday for her action in saving a small child's life at the Crocker School last December. Mrs. Dawn Vinje, a secretary at the school, applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to 8-year-old Joseph Weber after the child collapsed choking during a class on Dec. 7, 1967.

Two years before, Mrs. Vinje gave resuscitation to 9-year-old Linda Evangelistic when that child began choking on a piece of candy in the same classroom.

Horace Keeler and Arthur Burlingame of the ARC's Safety Services Committee, presented the certificate of recognition to Mrs. Vinje during a brief ceremony at the district offices Tuesday.

Mrs. Vinje credited her life-saving and first-aid instruction in saving the lives of both children.

Volunteer Library Aides At Jeff Will Be Honored

Volunteer library aides — about 174 of them — will be honored at a "coffee" May 22, by the library staff of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

The library's aides assist in the operation of the district's 19 elementary school libraries, handling the routine, but essential chores of keeping the libraries open for children during most of the school day, and enabling the district's professional librarians to spend more of their time working directly with children.

In praising the library aides, JESD director of instructional materials, Robert E. Muller, said, "The value of the time that these ladies provide is immeasurable."

"Because of their more than generous service, the children in our schools have access to their libraries all day long, and we couldn't operate our library without them."

Superintendent Frank Greenwood said "The Board of Trustees and the teachers of our district appreciate the service these library aides are providing to the children in our schools."

Miller added that the district's elementary libraries have circulated over 260,000 books this year.

"This record circulation would not have been possible without the help of this dedicated group of volunteers," he said.

The "coffee" is being organized by the JESD elementary library staff, including Mrs. Yvonne Hennessey, Miss Joan Roggen, Miss Charmaine Beckman, Mrs. Melanie Fernekes, Miss Mary O'Rourke, Miss Carolyn Sink, Mrs. Vivienne Smith and Mrs. Maude Flack, head elementary librarian.

'Family Life' In N. County

would be an agreeable continuing program. They presented their proposals to parents during P-TA meetings, through informal gatherings with whom ever would listen, and among the professional staffs that would be required to teach the program.

"We have come up with an excellent family life program, one that answers many of the children's questions," Jefferson Elementary School District superintendent Frank Greenwood explains.

The first (1967) year the Jefferson District tried the program in two of its 23 schools for children in the 10-11 year old age group. Classes average 40 minutes each and are held three times weekly.

Although the series is integrated into the overall curriculum a parent may request their child be excused from that particular session. Only one parent has requested this in the Jefferson District.

South San Francisco's 19 elementary schools are all teaching the Family Life series and the response has been enthusiastic according to superintendent Dr. Paul Nielsen.

The county-wide Family Life series being taught deals with (a) emotions, (b) family, (c) reproduction-sex, and (d) moral and ethical values.

"We do not try to tell a child what is right or wrong — we leave many questions of this nature up to the parents," Greenwood said.

In May, 1967, a survey of parents whose children were attending the Westlake School in Daly City was conducted with favorable results.

Most parents answering the three question form endorsed the series and commented on its excellence. Several noted their children were indifferent to the study in one sense, but easier to communicate with regarding the subject of sex in another sense.

Over-all, the survey indicated a favorable attitude towards the program.

The accepted county Family Life program incorporates both lectures, discussions and films in its series.

Jefferson District health consultant Betty Boyken, a registered Public Health nurse, cautions that the films should not be shown alone.

The minor controversy that has rocked the North County in recent weeks is four episodes in a 15 part KQED television series on the subject titled "The Time of Your Life" and many parents and teachers do not think the children were prepared for it.

"What has shocked some people is the frankness of the film — not all of it, just installments 12 through 15," Mrs. Boykin said.

The channel telecast previews of upcoming series late Monday nights for teachers, principals and parents. If a teacher and principal felt the children were properly prepared for the upcoming installment, they would watch either on Tuesday or Thursday morning.

Dr. Nielsen pointed out that the TV series was not an integral part of the present Family Life series and whether it was shown or not was entirely up to the teacher or principal. One principal turned the series out.

"Some teachers just have not brought their classes up to date," Dr. Nielsen said. "It's new, and the hardest thing to realize is that sex is a part of our lives and not something to hide in a barrel."

to operate together harmoniously," he said.

The present negotiating council arrangement has "increased the squabbling" between the two groups, according to Dubois.

He also criticized the negotiating council arrangement because the "multi-organizational council allows administrators to form their own organizations, and when they choose to thwart any meaningful dialogue."

The AFT, offered a seat on the council, refused to participate this year "for a variety of reasons," Dubois said.

In requesting the change this week, Dubois said it would "allow the good feeling that again exists between various factions to continue, and grant to the teachers who choose to join the AFT their right to associate with whom they choose."

Under present arrangements, all proposals submitted by the AFT must be presented to the negotiating council before the board can act.

The AFT proposal to eliminate the negotiating council was submitted to the council for its consideration, and will be taken up at a future board meeting, according to Supt. Edward Morgan.

Claims totaling $4,110 were filed with the County Board of Supervisors Friday by owner of 12 homes in the 400 block of 88th and 89th streets in Daly City which were damaged by a sewer backup last January 30.

Most of the damage, according to the claims, was done to cars and items stored in garages. The individual claims range from $86 to $679.

Last September, Dutterer was seriously wounded during a river operation aboard a barge on the Mekong River (Vietnam), but continued to carry out his assigned mission to land a load of Army troops.

AFT Urges Winton Act Revision

American Federation of Teachers officials this week made a bid for revision of the Jefferson Union High School District's implementation of the Winton Act, and appealed for a return to the system utilized prior to creation of the district negotiating council last year.

In a presentation to trustees Monday, AFT President Dion Dubois said the board "stated clearly" at the time of the change that his organization could ask for a return to the original system "which allowed all organizations free access to the school board."

"Three years ago this board chose to implement the Winton Act in such a way that all organizations had free access to the governing body, and this was ruled legal by the District Attorney."

"In the two years that we operated with this condition, we made progress and both the AFT and the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association grew to respect one another and to operate together harmoniously," he said.

The present negotiating council arrangement has "increased the squabbling" between the two groups, according to Dubois.

He also criticized the negotiating council arrangement because the "multi-organizational council allows administrators to form their own organizations, and when they choose to thwart any meaningful dialogue."

Southern Pacific Seeks Bruno Lot

Southern Pacific wants to assume the City of San Bruno's portion of an off-street parking lot west of the railroad's San Bruno depot, converting it to a revenue-producing facility.

The request from Southern Pacific, in letter form, suggested it might return 25 per cent of the gross revenue to the City of San Bruno.

Mayor George Ingham Monday appointed Councilman Barney Barberian and Neil Crystal to probe the request.

In an earlier study session, the councilmen were informed that the lot usually holds about 80 cars — 40 on SP's portion.

In addition, another 40 cars are parked on the street, outside the lot.

quest," Greenwood said, in asking the Board to put the matter before voters.

Greenwood said the community "won't relish this but they are realistic enough to face this," Greenwood said, adding "They can see the job that the district schools are doing."

Trustee Ed Tomesello said the district was in a situation "in which we have no choice" and moved to put the tax hike on the ballot as soon as possible.

Last Tuesday, Greenwood presented the Board with what was termed a "bare bones" budget and threatened to ask for an increase to meet it. He said the budget had already been hacked five times "and every possible cut that could be made has been made."

The present tax rate would not provide funds for even cost of living pay increases for teachers, according to Greenwood.

If the voters approve the hike the district could start budgeting monies against it next year.

BART Officials Still Clinging To Daly City Accord Hopes

The question of whether Daly City will get that BART station was hanging by a thinner thread today following disclosures last week that the transit district was planning to build a switchback and storage yard in San Francisco.

Final stop on the new scheme would be Balboa Park, two miles from the proposed Daly City terminus.

Three million dollars separated Daly City from BART thinking on the matter of the station. The city wants an underground system and BART claims it can only afford to build an aerial facility on the 13-acre site near Knowles Avenue.

BART officials and Mayor Bernard Lycett continue to express hope that some accord can be reached in the near future on the station. But BART's "accord" continues to lean toward Daly City's acceptance of an aerial or, at the least, a "cut" station.

Mayor Lycett promised BART President James Doherty last week he would meet with the council and inform him of their decision by May 14 — the next regular meeting of the city.

Last Tuesday, BART engineers informed director Garland Graves, an executive of the Engineering Committee, that the absence of the Daly City terminus would not adversely affect the line as a whole, but pointed out it might cost the system "some patronage."

What worries Lycett and the council more than the city (although the city insisted at the joint meeting the only argument was whether the city would get an aerial or underground station) is the surrounding traffic network.

If BART agreed to help financially in providing a better traffic pattern around the station, Lycett thinks the city might be more agreeable to the proposed semi-underground station.

BART's information officer Stanton Thies told The Times today "we are still hoping to reach agreement with Daly City."

"If we can't, we will build a turnout south of Balboa station and if a study discloses Daly City is out of the picture altogether we might have to put in parking facilities there," Thies said.

He said the system would utilize trackage between the Balboa station and county lines for train storage.

The problem of customer parking in the area was not a serious one, inasmuch as planners think many of the patrons would either be "kiss and ride" or municipal bus riders.

This acknowledged property around the Balboa station was limited and there would likely be some parking difficulties, but declined to comment on them until engineers studied the matter further.

One reason BART does not want to build a station just across the line in San Francisco is the location.

Rapid transit trains require a specified distance to accelerate and decelerate, plus potential patrons must be able to easily reach the station either by car or municipal transportation.

Daly City's location is ideal. It has the space for parking unlimited numbers of cars, and is adjacent to two thoroughways.

$3,000 Loss In S.S.F. Fire

Fire of undetermined cause resulted in an estimated $2,500 to $3,000 in damages to the rear wall and dining room roof of the Gondelier restaurant and bar at 257 Grand Avenue, South San Francisco, Sunday.

The South San Francisco fire department said the fire started in a storage building at the rear of the Topper Bar at 249 Grand Avenue.

One of the owners of the Gondelier, Basil Fornesi, attempted to extinguish the 8:18 p.m. fire with a garden hose, but was unsuccessful.

Boys' Club Plans First Ball June 8

South San Francisco Boys' Club will sponsor their First Community Ball on June 8 under the chairmanship of Len Stevenson, past president of the Dad's Club.

The gala event will be held in the Boys' Club gymnasium which will be transformed into a grand ballroom. Dancing will be to the music of Sal Carson commencing at 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

The Community Ball is open to adult couples at a donation of $15.00 per couple. Refreshments will be served throughout the evening climaxed by the famous Boys' Club buffet.

Stevenson stated, "It is our hope that this will truly be a Community Ball due to the participation of many of the service clubs and their guests."

All proceeds from the event will go to benefit the Boys' Club membership of 1500 plus boys taking part in a six-day-a-week program.

Reservations may be made by phoning Tom Sauder, Executive Director of the Boys' Club.

250 to Dance At S.S.F. Fete

The South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department will present the Annual Dance Revue at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 31, in the South San Francisco High School auditorium.

Approximately two hundred and fifty children will be participating. Also as an added attraction members of the South San Francisco Senior Citizens' Club will present a novelty number.

The public is cordially invited.

S.S.F. Rec Meet May 16

Joe Manjarrez, Chairman of the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Commission announced that the regular May meeting of the Commission will be held Thursday, May 16, 1968, 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Regular meeting nights for the Recreation and Park Commission are the fourth Thursday of each month starting at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall. Residents of South San Francisco are urged to attend.

Reisch Plans Justice Talk

Superior Court Judge Conrad B. Reisch will speak on "Support of Law and Order and the Administration of Justice" at the South San Francisco Kiwanis Luncheon this Thursday at Lyle's Restaurant on El Camino Real.

Former city attorney and president of the San Mateo County Bar Association, Judge Reisch was appointed to his position by Governor Ronald Reagan.

3 Gunmen Rob Motel

Three gunmen held up the Town Motel in Daly City Sunday morning and fled in a waiting car with some $78.

An unidentified clerk said the three men entered the motel office at 5:57 a.m. and demanded the money from the register. Although none of the trio displayed a gun, each indicated he had one concealed, the clerk told Daly City police.

The men were described as between 25 and 30 years old; wearing dark clothing and 5 foot

Take us for a ride.

Get a free checking account when you get your car loan.

We're asking for it. We are just plain eager to make car loans. So when you get yours from us (minimum $1000), you get a personal checking account with no service charge at all for the length of the car loan. How often do you get to take a bank for anything?

Savings on top of savings. You save about $30 a year in service charges on the checking account alone. But you also save on the car loan, because when you get it direct from us there's no middleman, no markup. It's like getting something direct from the factory—in this case, money. Say you save 1½% (it could be even more). On a $3400 car, with $1200 down, that's $99 saved on a standard 36-month loan. For $99, plus that free checking account, won't you look us up and come over? We know your time is precious but it can't be that precious!

Our Positive Attitude. We are a $900-million bank but we still knock ourselves out to say "Yes" to loan applicants. After all, we'd never get anywhere sitting around saying "No" to people.

ALWAYS FIRST QUALITY

THE PENNEY STORY

Should you throw away your iron or keep it as a door stop?

By ROBERTA NASH

Perhaps your iron isn't obsolete just yet. But with Penn-Prest, most women never iron at all. They just let their dryer do the ironing.

(Of course, if you haven't a tumble dryer, you may have to touch up in some cases. But just a touch up.)

Please don't confuse Penn-Prest with some other 'permanent press' process that may have disappointed you. This one is different.

The J. C. Penney Company stands behind it.

REDUCED THURSDAY THRU SATURDAY ONLY

All our men's Towncraft Penn-Prest short sleeve sport shirts. Many styles!

SAVE 1.94 ON 3 SHIRTS

What a chance to save on fine polyester/combed cotton blend shirts that never need ironing. They won't pucker at seams, either. All have been tested at Penneys Testing Center to assure you of top quality, reliable performance. All you need to do to keep them looking neat as new is machine wash and tumble dry 'em. Think of the value... It's fine Towncraft quality you're getting at this reduced price!

'Fun' for Kennedy Outing Slated at Park in San Bruno

Proving that "politics and fun can mix," a festive "People for Kennedy" cookout will be held Saturday, May 18, beginning 11 a.m. at Junipero Serra Park, San Bruno.

The gathering will be one among nearly 100 similar parties which will cover Northern California areas, as climax of a statewide "People for Kennedy" day staged by supporters of Senator Robert F. Kennedy in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Highlight of the serious portion of the picnic will be a visit and address by one of the key figures of the Kennedy family or one of his closest advisors.

For fun, the affair will feature refreshments, games of luck and skill with prizes both for adults and children. Families and individuals are only required to bring their own food. Entertainment will be provided by the "Techniques," a loud exciting band.

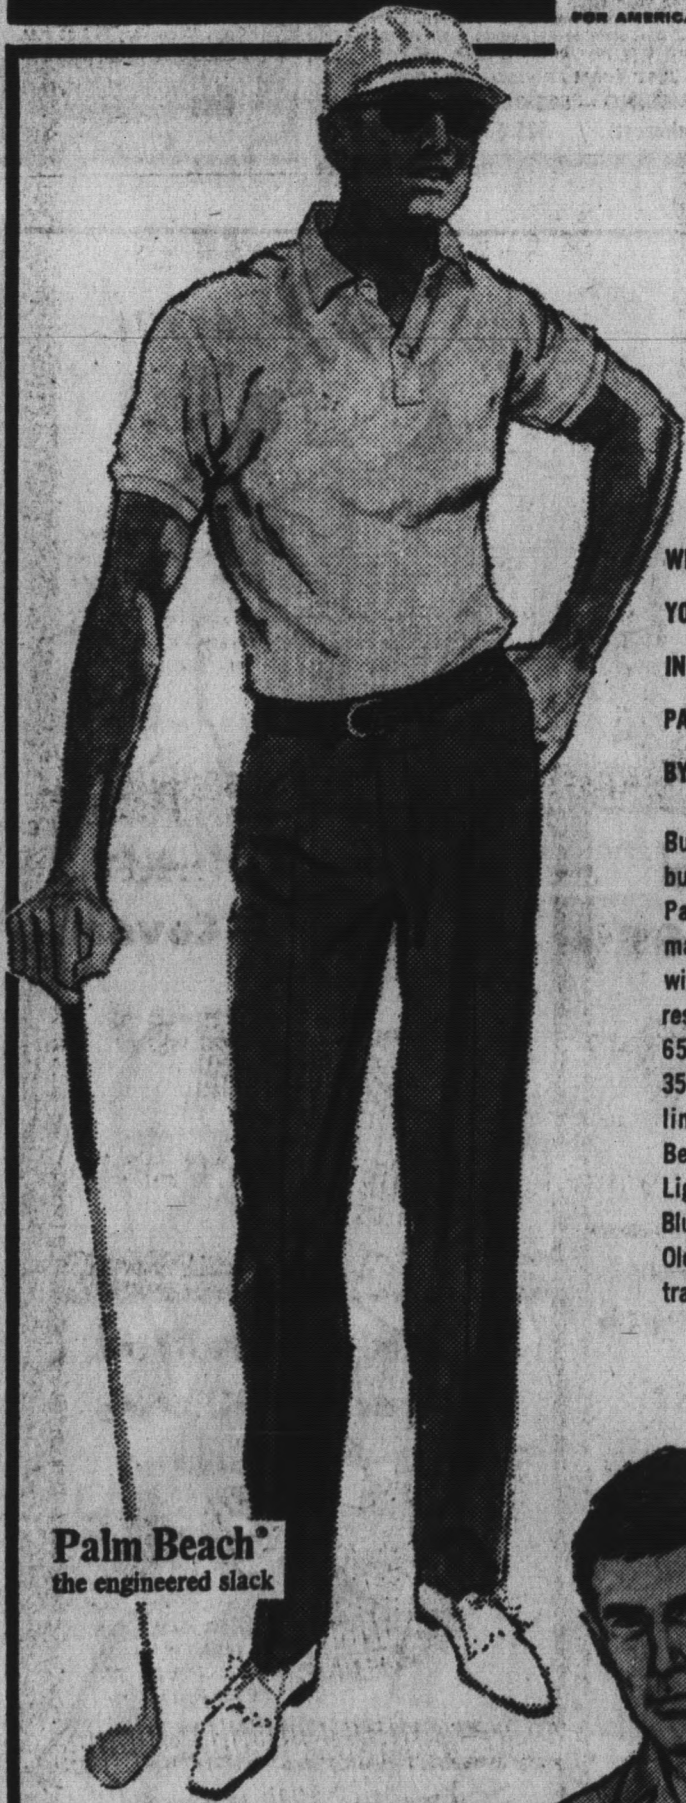

The cookout is under the sponsorship of the Women for Kennedy committee and under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Letty Dolmatz, San Carlos and Mrs. Jean Laghi, South San Francisco. Others helping with the direction of the activities are Mesdames: Pam Plamondon, Daly City; Reggie Flanagan, San Bruno; Carol Carter, San Bruno; Barbara Ross, San Bruno; Helen Governale, San Bruno; Vivian Gutierrez, Westborough; Jackie Carter, Hillsborough; Charlotte Shultz, Belmont and Ann Dempsey, Redwood City.

Junipero Serra Park is located on Crystal Springs road, San Bruno. To reach the area, go either North or South on El Camino Real to Crystal Springs road turning west and continuing on past San Bruno Park. Their will be signs posted along the route. Further information may be obtained by telephoning either the north or south county Kennedy headquarters.

Daly City Man Is Married To Wanda Benson

The Chapel of the First Methodist Church was the setting for Saturday's wedding of Wanda Jane Benson and Richard S. Bandrich of Daly City. The Rev. Dr. Lewis Julianoff officiated at the 8:30 p.m. ceremony.

Wanda, the daughter of Mrs. Nan Temple, was given in marriage by her son, Sgt. Richard B. Rouse, USA. She wore a powder blue silk organza gown with a scoop neckline and an Empire bodice and carried blue and white carnations with ivy.

Mrs. Ted Carlson was the sole attendant for the new Mrs. Bandrich. She wore a floor-length yellow sheath gown and carried yellow and white carnations.

Robert S. Bandrich of Mexico City served as best man for his brother. Guests were seated by Ted Carlson of Saratoga, Charles Bird of Walnut Creek and Joseph Manett of San Francisco.

The couple received guests at the Carpenter's Hall in Palo Alto and will live in Foster City. The bride is the sister of Mrs. John Fowler of Santa Ana.

"I feel like a high school principal at a school assembly," he remarked, glancing at his large teen-age audience. He was not a principal, but comedian Bill Cosby, star of TV series "I Spy", and of the KYA radio Bill Cosby Show.

As a member of the Terra Nova Tiger Tales staff, I attended a press conference with Cosby at the Hilton Hotel last week.

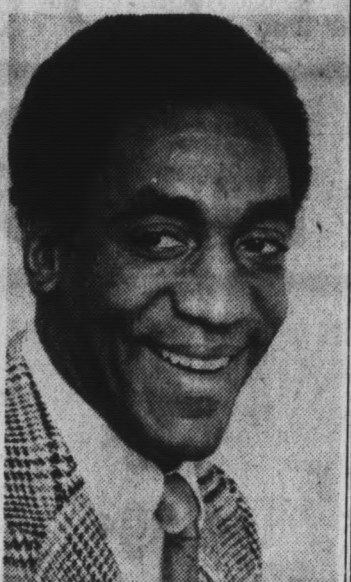

Bill first explained the format of his new five minute radio program, which will be entirely an ad-lib show. There's no canned laughter.

"What you hear you did, or you don't dig," he explained.

The subject of racial discrimination was repeatedly brought up in questions.

Beaten By Assailant

A San Francisco newspaper delivery man, Frank Fernandez of 225 East Avenue, San Bruno, was knocked unconscious and robbed Wednesday in front of the Camino East apartments in South San Francisco as he was checking out a service complaint.

Fernandez told South San Francisco police that he had been dispatched to 854 East Antoinette Lane at 6:05 p.m. to service a non-delivery complaint.

After going to the address and noting a paper on the doorstep, Fernandez returned to his truck to doublecheck the address listed on the complaint.

As he leaned inside the truck, Fernandez was felled by a blow to the back of his head. Knocked unconscious, he awakened to find a money bag with about $100 in checks and cash missing from his jacket pocket.

Another $185 was taken from his wallet, Fernandez reported.

The blow left a one-inch gash on Fernandez' head, police said.

D.C. Suspect Waives Jury

Mose Baker, 26-year-old San Francisco carpenter accused of a Daly City murder, waived a jury trial last Wednesday.

After brief testimony, during which Baker claimed self defense, the case was taken under submission by Superior Judge J. A. Branson for a ruling May 17 on the defendant's guilt or innocence.

Most of the case for the state was submitted by Deputy District Attorney Edward Pliska on the basis of the testimony given at the preliminary hearing. Baker was represented by Charles R. Garry, who has been prominent in the news lately as chief counsel for the Black Panther organization.

Baker is accused of stabbing a fellow worker, William White, 42, of San Francisco, during an argument over a poker game while the men were at work on a Daly City construction project. White was stabbed seven times.

On the witness stand Wednesday Baker said he did not know how White was stabbed. He denied that he had a knife.

A public hearing on the budget is slated for early June.

S.S.F. Father Arrested As Bank Holdup Suspect

A wild chase around downtown San Francisco Friday afternoon ended with a wrecked car, a hysterical wife, two small boys unhurt and a South San Francisco man in jail on suspicion of bank robbery. It started with an argument between Robert and Clara Yuponco, 551 Tamarack Lane, South San Francisco, while parked on Nob Hill, according to San Francisco police.

At about 1:23 p.m., police said, the 28-year-old Yuponco left the car and went into the United California Bank branch in the Fairmont Hotel, pulled a .38-caliber revolver from a toolbox he was carrying and allegedly robbed the bank of $8,130.

He ran to the car and drove off, with his wife and two boys, but Valdemar Ansaldi, assistant manager of the bank, had run after him and, after flagging down a passing police patrolcar, took off in pursuit, police reported. The chase went to Van Ness Avenue and back up Broadway and over the Broadway Tunnel. It ended at Broadway and Hyde Street, where Yuponco's car hit broadside into that of Paul L. Young of Oakland.

Yuponco then left the car and ran a block — down a dead-end alley — over the tunnel, where he was trapped by a flock of police and FBI men and came out from behind a garbage can still holding the toolbox when ordered to do so, officers said.

Police noted that Mrs. Yuponco was hysterical, saying, "He ruined my life, he ruined my life." During later interrogation she said she hadn't known what had happened until they were being chased. She was treated for minor cuts at Harbor Emergency Hospital. After questioning she and the boys, Michael, 4, and Robert, 3, were released to return home.

Yuponco was booked on suspicion of robbery.

Rollingwood Chorus Wins 'Superior' Festival Rating

Rollingwood Elementary School Chorus participated for the first time in the annual CMEA Bay Area Choral Music Festival held at City College of San Francisco, and won a superior rating.

Each choir receives a rating by three adjudicators and their combined ratings are then divided into categories of Superior (I), Excellent (II), Good (III), Fair (IV), and Poor (V).

The choruses are judged on the following qualities: Tone, rhythm, diction, phrasing, stage deportment, interpretation, technical facility, balance, and suitability of music.

Rollingwood received outstanding recognition in the areas of tone quality, balance, suitability of music and technical facility, thereby qualifying for a superior rating. It was the only elementary school to receive this. Approximately 40 groups, elementary through high school, participated in the festival.

The chorus sang "All in the April Evening" (composer Robertson); "America Our Heritage" (composer Steele); and

"O Lord Most Holy" Panis Angelicus, (composer Franck.)

Brand new blue robes with white collars and red velvet bows were provided for the occasion by the hard-working Rollingwood P-TA, especially through the efforts of Mrs. Lloyd Chaney, president, and Mrs. James Duggan, ways and means chairman.

These fourth and fifth graders rehearse every Friday afternoon for one hour and their director, Miss Diane York, maintains that they are "one of the nicest groups of children" she has ever worked with.

Children participating include: Rachel Abad, Daniel Adiego, Sharon Bacigalupi, Laurie Barnes, Douglas Bernard, Claudia Blakeslee, Steven Blakeslee, William Boffi, Laurie Bonning, Katherine Butz, Nancy

Buzbee, Sharon Carlson, Robert Chaney, Maria Chavez, Timothy Coffman, Bernard Cousart,

Knife Threat In Robbery

A knife-wielding trio of teenagers robbed a Daly City man early Friday as he walked home from work.

Police said the victim, Mago Magno Vela, 56, of 308 Frankfort Street, was within a block of his home when three youths approached him shortly before 1 a.m.

As he tried to evade them on the sidewalk one of the youths pulled out a knife and pressed it against his throat while another grabbed his wallet containing $52, Vega told police.

'Bye-Bye Birdie' At 8 Schools Crestmoor High Join Cap

The curtain will rise for Crestmoor High School's first musical production, "Bye-Bye Birdie" Friday and Saturday.

Rehearsals for this show have been progressing for about two months. The cast, the stage crew, the band, and the directors, Mrs. Barton, Mr. Musser, and Mr. Fisher, have put in long hours, and have worked very hard to perfect the production. All the actors and actresses are amateurs, and some of them have never appeared on stage before. Therefore, voice projection and blocking were being taught while rehearsals were taking place. A few technical problems with Crestmoor's theater facilities had to be overcome, and now the play is running very smoothly.

There has been one very important role change during the course of the production. Vickie New, who was to portray Kim McAfee, was forced to drop the part due to health reasons. Luckily, Lynn Hale, another member of the cast, was able to replace her without difficulty. The part of Conrad Birdie has also been double-cast, so that Jim Thompson will be portraying the role one weekend, and Kevin O'Brien will be portraying it the other.

Many of the actors and actresses have fine singing talent, and the leads, Mary Ann Fabian and Ernie Sandoval, are doing an excellent job. Ernie has already demonstrated his talents

CSM Favors June Bonds

San Mateo Junior College District's board of trustees last week voted "enthusiastic endorsement" of the state bond proposal for community colleges on the June 4 primary election ballot.

The measure, Proposition 2, would make $65 million in state matching funds available for construction projects at two-year institutions throughout California.

Trustees, meeting at College of San Mateo, took their action — urging approval of the bonds by county voters — despite the probability that the local district will not qualify for any of the money.

"Allocations are most apt to go to colleges that are much worse off than ours," explained

3 Service Clubs Aid Students' Trips

Three service clubs of Daly City are assisting in the financial backing of two Westmoor students who have been chosen to go abroad this summer under the Experiment in International Living. The students are Elaine Chiosso and Charles Freiberg.

Citizens' World Friendship Committee has worked with the high school in the initiating and support of this project; local service organizations which have donated are the Lions'

Club, Rotary Club, and the Kiwanis Club.

Local citizens are also invited to make donations for this cause. The students at Westmoor assist this project through the interest of the World Friendship Club of the school.

Elaine will be going to Italy where she will live with a family and Charles will be going to Norway. Both students will be leaving the last part of June and return August 1.

D.C. Mental Health Unit Sets Session

Volunteers of the Mental Health Association will exchange ideas, share experiences and feelings about their activities in the various Mental Health Services and become better acquainted at their meeting May 20, 10:30 a.m., at the North County Community Mental Health Center, 45 Southgate, Daly City.

Registration and distribution of the new "Mental Health Portfolio for Volunteers" begins at 10:15 a.m. supervised by Mrs. Alice Anderson, Miss Eileen Canada, and Miss Cynthia Spitzer all from Daly City. Mrs. Thomas Scruggs, Millbrae, Chairman of the Volunteer Services Committee, will welcome the volunteers and introduce panel speakers at 10:30. Mrs. Howard Stegman, South San Francisco, North County Volunteer Chairman, and Mrs. Scruggs will moderate.

Panel members, active in the various services are Mrs. Jack Lynch, Daly City, Mrs. Roger Nixon, San Mateo, Mrs. Thomas Tuttle, Belmont, Mrs. W. J. Miles, Redwood City, Mrs. John Valleria, Colma, Mrs. Granville Browning, Burlingame, Miss Joyce Webb, Menlo

Park, and Mrs. John Basanez, South San Francisco.

Volunteers will have an opportunity to circulate between the small discussion groups, asking questions, meeting other volunteers, and learning about some experiences and problems so each will be more informed about what the next volunteer does.

North County Center staff members are joining the volunteers for lunch. Miss Aileen Yamauchi, Occupational Therapist, has invited all volunteers to join the tour of the North County Facilities following lunch.

Another Term For President

The Crystal Springs Junior Women's Club installed Mrs. Lea Mauldin, 482 Maple, San Bruno. Also elected to office recently were Mesdames Gordon Nelson, vice president; William Muth, secretary; Anastacio Gomez, treasurer; Richard Dunham, auditor; and Marvin Maudlin, parliamentarian. Mrs. John Perotti is the club coordinator.

Among new members installed at the club's April meeting were: Mesdames Donald Bruce, James Cruson, James Howard, Muth, Kenneth Polani, Robert Pedri and Don Marchi.

Two awards were given to delegates and guests from Crystals at the Pacific District Convention. Mrs. Mauldin accepted the first place Mental Health Award, small club division, for her committee and Mrs. Brown received the prize for registration, first place.

David Stone, the guest speaker at the May meeting, is a teacher and counselor at the Inter-State College of Personology in San Francisco. He will discuss this science, which is based on the premise that physical features reveal the personality.

Skyline P-TA Meets Tonight

Skyline School P-TA will meet today at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-use room.

Pack 248, Den 2, will lead the Pledge of Allegiance. The school band will present a musical recital.

Projects from the students who entered the Science Fair will be on display, and members of the Poetry Club will give readings and show their art work.

Recipe Search

Good morning, good cooks.

There is a well known saying to the effect that nothing succeeds like success. Apparently you good cooks think this is true for I have another request for a hard to find recipe. And judging by past successes, one of you generous gals will come through with just the recipe for which we are looking.

Mrs. Nolan of Daly City is looking for a cheese cake that uses cottage cheese as it's main ingredient. She recalls that it was baked about an hour and then left in the oven another hour with the heat off. How about it, do you have this recipe in your files under the heading of "YUM?"

Speaking of tasty recipes I want to share a trio of goodies with you. A whole meal in which you go from delicious to more delicious to most delicious. How does that grab you?

Mrs. Audre Flaherty who lives at 31 Wawona Street, San Francisco, gave me these gems.

CHICKEN BREASTS WITH ALMONDS

- 6 large chicken breasts
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- 1-16 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/2 cup white wine
- 1/2 cup toasted, blanched almond halves
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1/2 cup toasted, blanched almond halves

Sprinkle the six chicken breasts with the one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon each pepper and paprika. Melt two tablespoons of the butter in baking dish, roll the chicken in it to coat and then arrange skin down, baking in 400-degree oven for 20 minutes or until brown. Turn chicken. Combine the one tablespoon minced onion with the one-sixteenth teaspoon garlic powder and one-half cup of the white wine. Pour over chicken. Bake 40 minutes longer until tender. In the last 15 minutes of the cooking period saute the three-fourths cup mushrooms in the remaining two tablespoons butter. Add drippings from chicken, sour cream and the remaining one-fourth cup wine. Heat slowly stirring until well blended. Add half the almonds. Transfer chicken to serving dish. Top with the sauce and the remaining one-fourth cup almonds. Serves 6.

I JUST LOVE raw spinach in a salad and this is one of the most delicious I've ever eaten. Give it a try and I think you will agree.

SPINACH SALAD

- 1 large bunch spinach
- 6 slices bacon
- 2 hard-cooked eggs
- 4 green onions

Wash spinach carefully and tear into bite size pieces. Fry the six slices bacon until crisp, and crumble. Chop the two hard cooked eggs and the four green onions. Dry spinach and place in refrigerator to chill.

DRESSING

- 3/4 cup olive oil
- 4 tablespoons honey
- 1/4 cup tarragon vinegar
- Dash of garlic powder
- Salt and pepper

Combine the three-fourths cup olive oil with the four tablespoons honey, one-fourth cup vinegar, garlic powder and salt and pepper. Shake to blend well.

When ready to serve your salad add the crumbled bacon, chopped eggs and green onions to spinach and pour dressing over all.

THIS DESSERT has the attractive quality of being made ahead and has such a lovely disposition that it will sit and wait quietly in your refrigerator until called upon to make it's glamorous entrance.

CHARLOTTE RUSSE

- 1 package egg custard mix, 4 1/2 oz. package
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 3 cups milk
- 5 tablespoons rum
- 1/2 pint whipping cream
- 8 lady fingers, split

Combine the one package custard mix, one-fourth cup sugar and one envelope gelatin. Blend in the three cups milk. Cook, stirring constantly, over high heat until mixture comes to a boil. (Mixture will be thin. Stir in the five tablespoons rum and chill until mixture thickens.

Whip the one-half pint whipping cream (reserve some for decorating), and fold into chilled custard mixture. Pour into 1 1/2 quart mold which has been lined with the 16 lady fingers. (I used a spring form mold and it came out in perfect shape.) Chill until set, at least four hours or overnight. Unmold and garnish with whipped cream, and maraschino cherries. I used both red and green cherries, cut them into sections and drained them on a paper towel, formed them into flowers and the result was quite effective.

RECENTLY I attended a tea given for P-TA members at Thomas Edison School who worked in the library during this year. My Monday afternoon co-worker, Mrs. Rosina Banks who lives at 45 Southdale Ave. in Daly City brought these delicious cookies to the tea and had many requests for the recipe.

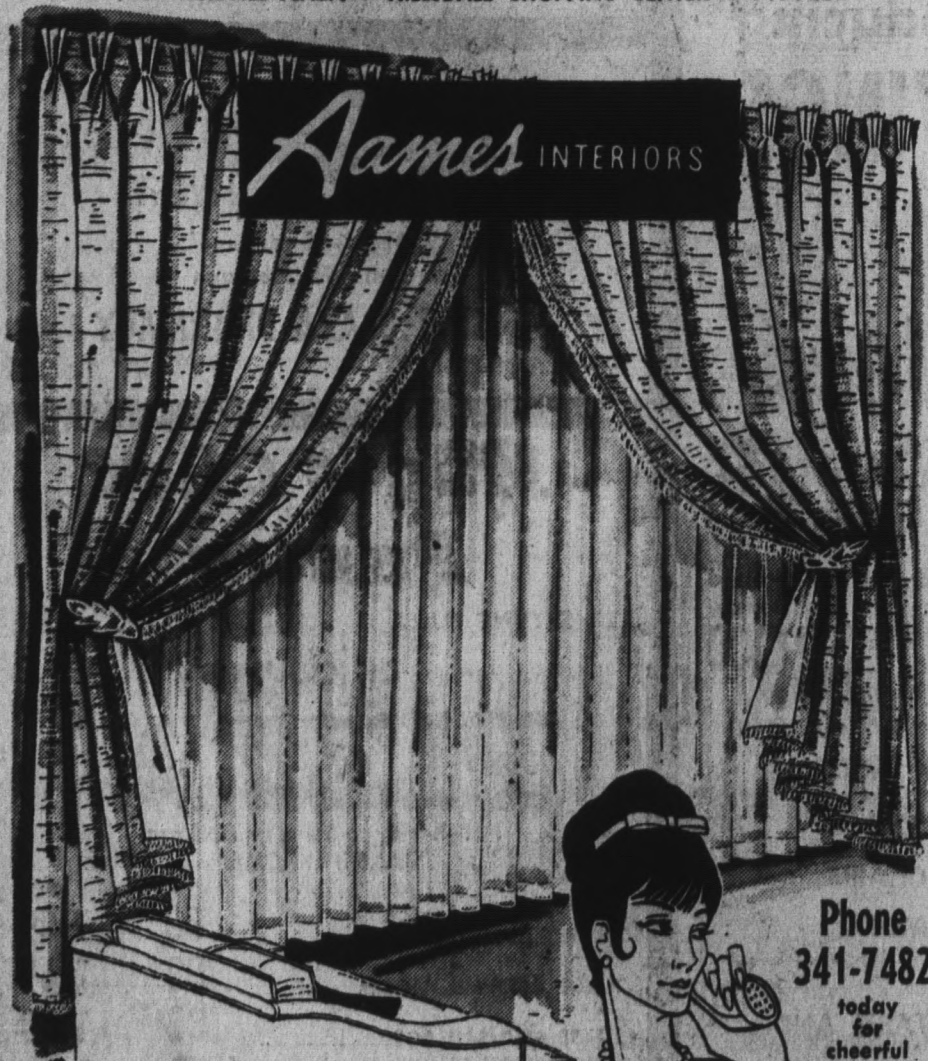

CHERRY-COCONUT BARS

- 1 cup sifted flour
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
- FILLING
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1/4 cup flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 - 1/2 cup coconut
 - 1/2 cup quartered maraschino cherries

Heat oven to 350 degrees. With hands, mix the one cup flour, one-half cup butter and three tablespoons confectioners sugar until smooth. Spread thin with fingers in 8" square pan. Bake for about 25 minutes.

Combine the two slightly beaten eggs with the one cup sugar, one-fourth cup flour, one-half teaspoon baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla, three-fourths cup chopped nuts, one-half cup coconut and one-half cup maraschino cherries, and mix well. Spread over the top of baked pastry (no need to cool). Bake 30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Cut into bars.

DR. GILBERT BEIRNE, a dermatologist, outlines hazards of "sun worship" to Mrs. Mary Russell in a personal warning prior to showing of "Sense in the Sun" by American Cancer Society's Daly City unit May 20.

Cancer Unit Will Show Film on 'Sun Worship'

The Daly City Unit of the American Cancer Society will present a free film "Sense in the Sun" May 20 at 10:30 a.m., at 45 Sotungate Avenue.

Following the film Dr. Gilbert Beirne, a dermatologist, will speak and answer questions.

Free child care will be available at the Westlake Bowl Nursery.

Every year people spend hour after hour basking in the sun with great pleasure and little thought of risking cancer of the skin, a cancer unit spokesman explained.

Skin cancer, if anyone happens to think of it, may happen to George — never to me — is the general carefree attitude of most, yet every year some 90,000 people in the United States develop skin cancer and about 5,000 die of it.

"These deaths seem the most pitiful of them all because most of them could so easily be prevented," Dr. Beirne, commented.

"A large fraction of those who die of skin cancer are lost for no good reason at all," he added.

The American Cancer Society has included skin cancer control in its five-year minimum achievement program which seeks to greatly reduce the number of deaths from this disease.

"To this end the Society used its film, 'Sense in the Sun' which shows tellingly just what chances the average sun-worshiper takes with the sun.

"Showing a little sense such as putting on a shirt with long sleeves, a side-brimmed hat, using lotions or cream to filter out rays should be common practice but only too often isn't. Fair-haired and fair-skinned people are particularly vulnerable to sunrays.

"Most skin cancers are caused by over-exposure to sun and wind. Those who have to be in the sun including field workers, fishermen, lifeguards, etc., must be on guard to protect themselves as well as possible; those who follow the sun in the pursuit of fun and happiness should also be careful.

"The general public associates tanning with 'good health' and 'attractiveness.' Actually, tanning is a response to ultraviolet injury, and the cumulative damage that results from excessive exposure to sunlight is the major factor in premature aging of the skin and the development of skin cancer," the doctor declared.

Skin cancer is readily detectable. A blemish that won't disappear within two weeks or so, a change in wart or mole, a tendency to bleed or darken — all these are telltale signs and should be looked at by your doctor as soon as possible, Dr. Beirne said.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By DONALD C. WAITE

WHICH ROOM IN A HOME CAN HAVE THE MOST USES?

Did you ever stop to think that the one room in a home that can be used for the most different purposes is the so-called den.

Dens can be used for such varied things as guest bedrooms, offices, snack and cocktail rooms, libraries, hobbies, game rooms, TV and radio rooms, and very often—the real living room.

Since it is often a small room with so many uses, it needs more careful planning and thought than most other rooms. It is usually a good idea to keep in mind that it is the informality, coziness and privacy of this room which make it so popular, and you should furnish accordingly.

Because space is usually at a premium, wall units holding books, mementos, TV, radio Hi-fi, built-in desks, etc., are often the perfect thing for a den.

A folding table and chairs which fit into the den closet can serve all purposes from card playing to eating.

A comfortable convertible sofa-bed is almost a must for most dens, and so is a real lounge chair and a good reading lamp.

When the den is also used as an office, compact desks are available containing both cabinets and a place for a typewriter.

We can get you every single item you need for your den, and we invite you to come in for ideas.

Asst. Pastor Named For Colma Church

The Broadmoor Presbyterian Church of Daly City announced that the Rev. James S. Griffes has been called as part-time assistant pastor beginning today.

He will assist pastor Herbert C. Tweedie in his duties, with emphasis on calling and membership.

The new assistant will be installed at the 11 o'clock service this Sunday and participate in the serving of the Communion of the Lord's Supper at both the 9:15 and 11 a.m. services.

Rev. Griffes lives with his wife, Marie, at 8 Wilshire Court, Daly City.

For the past three years he has been assistant pastor at the nearby Lakeside Presbyterian Church in San Francisco.

He is a graduate of McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, held four pastorates and completed twenty years as an Army Chaplain with service in Europe and Korea.

He and his wife have a daughter who as a seminary graduate has been a director of Christian education in two Eastern Churches.

She is now married to a professor who will be teaching at Trinity College at San Antonio, Tex.

Their son, Jim, comes from a mid-western pastorate this June to be associate pastor at the First Presbyterian Church of Santa Rosa.

Pacifican Is Injured

A Pacifican man was seriously injured last Tuesday when he lost control of his motorcycle on El Camino Real in Burlingame.

Gordon F. Guenther, 30, 459 Monterey Road, was admitted to Peninsula Hospital's intensive care unit with head injuries and facial lacerations. He is said to be in "fair" condition today.

Guenther was northbound on El Camino Real, witnesses told police, when he lost control of his motorcycle as he apparently tried to stop it for the Floribunda and Oak Grove stoplights at 7:30 p.m.

Two persons were injured Saturday night in a three-car pile up at Junipero Serra Boulevard and Avalon Drive in South San Francisco, police reported.

Harvey J. Cottrell, 43, of Oakland, and Frances Gray, 45, of 1183 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City, were treated for lacerations at Mary's Help Hospital after the wreck occurred at 8 p.m.

Both men were released after treatment, hospital spokesmen said.

Cars involved in the accident were driven by Cottrell, Harold Pascoe of San Rafael and Shirley Lui, 1139 Capuchino, Burlingame.

(Post Columnist)

Another Head to Roll?

WATCH OUT for another top head to roll off into the Daly City sunset in the not-too-distant future. D'ruther, not say much more at this time.

SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE Frank Blum off in June to the sunny Mediterranean, with a relaxing stopover on developer Henry Doelger's yacht (West-lake III) . . . And speaking of vacations: Al Kay, of the Canadian Pacific Airlines' Kay, has been trying to talk us into doing British Columbia (specifically Vancouver) this June, while 3,000 miles in the opposite direction Phyllis Daggett, of the Sahara Hotel Daggetts, has been telling Yours Truly about the delights of Las Vegas.

Soooo . . . we flipped a coin and it ended up on its edge. First stop will be the green of Vegas' tables before winging, bird-like, to the green of Canada. Actually, the missus and I had planned a two week stay in Petaluma (??).

DIDJA HEAR that famed golf course designer Robert Trent Jones wants to lay out a course adjacent to the Junipera Serra Freeway near the Crystal Springs reservoir? . . . Pick a windy, blustery, rainy day and whatta ya got? A good day for the annual Daly City employees' golf tournament at Cypress Hills. Thanks to my partner—Jerry Judge—who also happened to be the official scorekeeper (plus an intriguing system of figuring out handicaps) The Post grabbed third place in something (modesty forbids us from saying anything further). Mayor Bud Lyett claimed that high winds prevented him from shooting his usually sparkling game. The proclamation was unanimously upheld by councilmen-golfers Tony Giammona and Ed Dennis. (The latter placed first.)

BACK TO JUDGE BLUM—Hizzoner WILL NOT be opening that new superior court in South City until he returns from vacation sometime in July. On t'other hand, that new muni court, with judge Charles Becker presiding, will be dedicated tomorrow.

WE WAITED TWO MONTHS for Kit Menkin to tell us assemblyman Leo Ryan IS NOT thinking about a Health, Education and Welfare post—anywhere, anytime. And, furthermore, if he did take such a job the guy COULD NOT appoint a replacement in the 27th District, it would have to go to a special election. By golly, we're just going to have to get that Hot Line repaired and Our Source replaced.

ANOTHER GOLF TOURNAMENT coming up in Pacifica on May 22 and 23 at Sharp Park Golf Course. Entry fee $5 and blanks can be got from the CoC or from any Pacifica Tavern (?). We dropped into one of the latter the other a.m. and by the p.m. we had forgotten what we came in for.

TIME TO PUT the lid on all that drag racing up and over San Bruno Mountain via the new Guadalupe Canyon Parkway. One youth already "bought it" and no telling how many more nutty kids will be maimed before someone (in uniform) wises them up.

IN CASE YOU'RE WONDERING—Supervisor Bob St. Clair DID visit San Gregorio Beach the other day to see what was going on, if anything. Yes, he WAS fully clothed, although he confided some of the most enthusiastic sunbathers tried to convince him he should remove his clothing. Modesty prevailed and the former 49er football star beat a hasty retreat rather than disrobe. His comment on the episode: "Those people are serious about whatever they're doing."

MACE, MACE, WHO'S GOT THE MACE? SF police chief Tom Cahill has ordered his department to stop using Mace gas for humanitarian reasons. Guns are more friendly? But Daly City chief Roland Petrocelli, whose outfit pioneered the Mace in the Bay Area, has not issued such an order. The department will continue to use Mace "in lieu of more deadly weapons" the chief says. I, for one, would rather cry my head off—than have it shot off!

LORENE BEASLEY

(Better Business Bureau)

Spring, Summer Rackets

Spring and summer rackets are prevalent and vicious. There are certain types of swindlers who appear with the seasons filled with ingenious schemes designed to "take the homeowner." If he has ideas of remodeling his home—redoing his lawn—trimming his trees—no matter what home improvement he may have in his mind—the gyp artist is right with him.

Wandering woodsmen offer to fertilize, treat or trim trees. The price is low, but so is the calibre of work. These so-called "tree surgeons" often leave the trees in such bad shape, it takes years to reshape them and—a good shade tree is not easily replaced.

MAIL ORDER plants and bulbs rare bargains? The offer sounds great. However, the plants are often extremely small and do not bloom the first year—if at all. A nationwide advertised "Flowering Shade Trees That Grow Root-High in Just One Single Season" is the common silver maple. A Botanical Garden advised the BBB that after the tree is established, it may grow up to two feet the first year, and up to four or six feet in later years but NEVER root-high. The "Super-Growing Robinia" is the weed "Black Locust." The fantastic Allanthus Tree is the ordinary "Tree of Heaven," another roadside weed.

Roof, Chimney and Driveway repairmen: "Just passing—noticed your roof needs fixing." The repairmen often approaches the owner with a handful of shingles (sometimes a brick) which he claims fell from the roof. The homeowner is caught off guard with the alarming news that "his roof may cave in" and agrees to immediate repairs. He receives a huge bill. The guarantee he receives is no better than the man who did the work and has disappeared.

The sticky-black driveways which never dry are evidence of the Williamson's annual migration to the west. Their approach is the same and it is very successful. "Just finished a job down the street and have some material left over at reduced prices."

FURNACE FARCE.—A free inspection reveals serious and dangerous defects, which usually are non-existent. These swindlers prey on the elderly and young couples with children who are frightened by "scare tactics" into believing their furnaces are defective and dangerous to use. Subsequent inspections of a few jobs contracted with elderly couples revealed repairs to be unnecessary or improperly done.

Itinerant tool repairmen, house painters, metal replaters or refinishers and other such operators victimize churches, schools, hospitals, industrial plants and other public and private institutions as well as the homeowner. The repair gyps quote low cost estimates which end up as exorbitant charges for work that involved nothing more than cleaning and was higher than the cost of the tools.

Game Book Challenge

"Mingle your cares with pleasures now and then." — Cato.

Let the latest game book by those writing schoolteachers, the Churchills and the Blairs be your guide.

For example try this for fun. Here are the descriptions of nine characters from well-known books. If you can identify all of them you would do well in library school; if you miss any at all, turn off the TV; you need to visit the public library.

1. I told them they would never beat the North. Frankly it was foolishness, but I'm a Southerner and couldn't help getting into the fray. Besides, it offered certain financial opportunities, and I never miss a bet nor a chance to see that girl with a scarlet name.

2. My father is very important in my town. We live right on the Mississippi River. Last night this boy that I sort of love threw a brick through the window, but he really didn't mean it. Mark Twain was my creator.

3. Some people think I couldn't make up my mind; others think I'm mad, but how would you act if someone poured poison in your father's ears?

4. Ho hum, I just had a long nap and I'm not too alert. You might say I am famous for my knowledge of elves and bowling.

5. I'm about history's cruellest slave driver. I am very busy looking for a darky named Tom. A woman named Harriet Beecher Stowe gave me the job.

6. You like animals. Good, I'll give you a baby elephant. Meet my wife. She's from England. Edgar Rice Burroughs put us in a jungle.

7. Hey, amigo, how you like my outfit? My fat friend spends his money on food instead of clothes; me I like to look nice. A man named O. Henry brought us out of Mexico.

8. I've little time to get back to my ship. I've rope to purchase and harpoons. You can ask Herman about a white creature that took my leg.

9. I'm looking for my nephew—a boy with his hair going every which way; jam on his face. I had a white-washing job for him before a fellow put us in a book.

How did you do? Here are the answers.

ers if you need them. Rhett Butler, Becky Thatcher, Hamlet, Rip Van Winkle, Simon Legree, Tarzan, Cisco Kid, Captain Ahab, Aunt Polly.

The latest book by E. Richard Churchill and Edward H. Blair and their wives is entitled "Fun With American Literature." It was created for "parents everywhere in hope their children will enjoy this book as much as the children of our parents enjoyed writing it."

"WHO CAN USE THIS BOOK?" the authors ask. Just about anyone . . . It was designed for parents, teachers, recreation leaders, football players, college pros, construction workers, children, cabdrivers, church groups, pilots, big people, little people. In fact, it was planned to suit you, whoever you are; we hope it does."

Reviewers have called it a refreshing refresher, fun on the run and a rare combination of entertainment and information. Some of the puzzles are too hard for people who are not students of American literature. Some require too much time for nervous types. Yet "Fun With American Literature" will please anyone who likes a good quiz.

Like other volumes by the same authors, "Fun With American History" and "Puzzles for Family Leisure," it is stimulating as well as enjoyable.

Just for fun, test your knowledge of the nursery rhymes.

1. What little lady was frightened by a spider?
2. Who lost her wooly pets?
3. What ruler enjoyed violin music with his pipe and his bowl?
4. Who was a noted vegetable picker?
5. Who committed a crime by stealing a swine?
6. What ruling lady was noted for her pastry?
7. Whose companion fell down and injured himself?
8. What lover boy learned that his kisses made the girls weep?
9. Whose pet was hungry for the goodies of the cupboard?
10. Whose pet disrupted the lessons of a wise teacher?

If you don't know the answers, you'd better read "Fun With American Literature."

TV Wars on Store Thefts

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Allan J. Alperin is considered to be armed and extremely dangerous—especially to shoplifters who blame him for thwarting many of their efforts aimed at proving that crime DOES pay.

The head of Photo-Scan for the Bay Area is "armed" with an attache case full of statistics on crime in the nation along with plans for installation of his newest crimebusting system.

Alperin frankly acknowledges that his scanner cameras and closed circuit TV networks, installed in everything from small liquor stores to gigantic multi-storied department stores, are not the complete answer to the increasing shoplifting problem presently plaguing the country.

"What we must do is combine our efforts to make it more difficult—almost impossible—for shoplifters and robbers to operate," Alperin explains.

To do this, store employees must be trained in the detection of shoplifters and how to handle them.

"Of course, we don't want to teach an employ. too much or else they might go into the shoplifting business for themselves," he said.

Alperin wasn't joking.

Last year almost two dozen law enforcement officers, including a county sheriff, were arrested and charged with shoplifting. The biggest case was against several Chicago policemen.

Shoplifters cost stores in the Bay Area more than $1 million last year and this staggering figure is increasing daily.

A "safe" figure in computing losses resulting from shoplifters can be arrived at by taking an average of 4 per cent of the store's gross sales. Many smaller stores figure they lose in the neighborhood of $2 per day to shoplifters. This figure multiplied by the hours (days) of operation will give the reader an idea of the magnitude of this problem.

Alperin thinks the best way to combat shoplifting is with a three-way combination: The cameras, trained personnel, and psychology.

"The psychology is handled by putting a sign, or a series of signs, in a store reading, 'Smile You're on Closed Circuit TV,'" he explained.

This hint has a surprising effect on the would-be shoplifter, according to Alperin.

"They apparently go elsewhere, if our statistics concerning stores where these sets have been installed in any indication of their effectiveness," Alperin said.

In one Las Vegas supermarket which had been hit hard by thieves, figures disclosed a phenomenal decline in thefts—from $700 a month in 1965 to about $70 for the same period a year later (after the equipment had been put in).

Another case reversed the procedure and actually freed an accused armed robber last year.

Eyewitnesses to a bank hold-up in Massachusetts identified a suspect and he was arrested. Photos taken of the real gunman, however, proved beyond doubt that the jailed suspect was innocent of the crime.

The use of cameras, and even TV, in stores is not new. Since the late 1930s such equipment has been used.

However, today's systems are highly sophisticated and can be either (1) channelled into a central "watchdog" unit, (2) connected to a camera system for taking a sequence of photos, or (3) maintained as a complete central unit at larger department stores or storage facilities.

"Half the battle is letting the prospective thief know that we know exactly what he (or she) is up to," Alperin said.

Poor Are Happier?

No matter how good a movie is, it's pretty difficult to convince the average filmgoer that the poor are happier than the rich. "Up the Junction" makes that attempt and to a degree evokes sympathy for Nell Dunn, a real person living in Battersea, England, who is played by Suzy Kendall. It is currently at the North-point Theatre.

Nell Dunn is the daughter of socialite Lady Mary Campbell on whose autobiography the film is based. She's undoubtedly a rare and wonderful woman but her environs, as depicted by Director Peter Collinson (The Penthouse), are not the sort anyone in their right mind would relish.

We see the wealthy socialite being driven into her new life in a Rolls Royce. When she steps out, into a new life where she naively thinks there is less hypocrisy, boredom and complacency. After securing a job as a candy packer in a seamy factory, she makes friends with two sisters (Adrienne Posta and Maureen Lipman). They're friendly to the newcomer but think her a bit dotty to be buying second-hand furniture and renting a dump of a two-room Victorian flat.

The one sister eventually enlists her help in getting an abortion, the details of which are less lurid than in "Alfie" but the after effects are shockingly effective if not downright sordid. The second sister is involved in a drunken street brawl with her ex-husband and our slumming dilettante still isn't discouraged from seeking what she believes is the good, simple life where money and power can't corrupt, the working class. What she doesn't ever understand is that poverty, lack of education and immorality are demeaning and degrading.

She's fortunate enough to get involved with a sensitive young man played with an attractive aplomb by Dennis Waterman. Their love affair grows through mutual tenderness and respect, rather than as an adventure between a poor boy and a rich girl. When after asking her to marry him and sharing the wealth he says all her friends know she has, she becomes disillusioned over his insistence at declaring her position. He steals a car to take her on a final fling and gets arrested, leaving her confused and heartbroken.

THE ENDING IS VERY UNSATISFACTORY. Has she had enough of the slums? Will she wait for him and show him a life he's always craved? Will she go back to the horrible routine of the candy factory or return home to her family and live her life in frustration? There's nothing in the script that even hints at an answer and at that point one recognizes what an idealistic fool she is.

Nell Dunn's real life experiences among the lower class Londoners were previously translated to the screen in "Poor Cow." They parallel rather than sequel each other. "Up the Junction" is how the residents refer to Clapham Junction, a place unequalled in squalor any place in the Bay Area.

It's an interesting excursion to a European location definitely off the beaten path for American tourists but the drama it presents of Nell Dunn glorying amid the unintelligible screeching of back streets tenements is too silly an anti-social pill to swallow.

The Stupid Drivers

WE'RE EMBARRASSED and in trouble.

Two weeks ago we published some Garden Village school fourth grade poetry that we thought was pretty good stuff, except we said it was fifth grade work.

Among the items was one by one of our twin sons, a fact we hadn't intended to mention.

But his twin brother, in another fourth grade class, is yelling for equal time. So don't be surprised when we pop up with one of his efforts—"to keep peace in the family . . . and to give proper recognition."

HOW COME all the really stupid drivers in the North County use Park Plaza Drive in Daly City (the one we use all the time, too)?

Why it is we haven't been hit and maimed daily is a real mystery.

Those of us from the sticks sorta expect courtesy and caution on the streets. But that doesn't appear to be the case here.

Or in South S.F., we gather after talking with Police Chief John Fabbri, who took a trip to our old Lakeport stomping grounds to talk to high schoolers about narcotics.

Fabbri recalled how pleasant it was to see motorists stopping for pedestrians and stop signs. A nice change of pace, he thought.

THE BEN FRANKLIN Intermediate School publication, The Journal, covers many bases each month, including a television review. This month The May issue lauded the Rowen and Martin Laugh-in as one of the "surprise hits" of the season.

"Although the hip gags and continued story line are aimed at the older folk," the review noted, "the majority of the audience is an absolute mystical younger set."

Transition Aid For Jeff Pupils

An "ambitious new exploratory program" will shortly be introduced to pupils in two Jefferson Elementary District schools.

The program is designed to assist seventh grade children in making the transition from elementary school to high school, along with helping them solve some of the more basic problems encountered by children in that age bracket.

Guidance advisor Dick Holm explained the nine-week program to the JESD board of trustees last week and received their wholehearted support.

Trustee Ed Tomasello said "it's the best thing I've heard of in education in some time."

Holm said the program was aimed at reaching those "crisis-oriented" youngsters and would not require additional personal to staff it.

The proposed program would handle 24 children for the period.

Holm said by shorting other exploratory classes such as foreign language (French and Spanish), music and art, the new guidance classes "could be squeezed in" at the Colma Intermediate and Ben Franklin schools.

Mack Offers Photo Class

The San Mateo YWCA has announced that Doug Mack will teach his Photography classes May 15, from 7 to 9 p.m. at his studio, 201 Southgate Avenue, Daly City.

Nationally known for his photographs of children, including "Mack's Moppets," Doug Mack has won countless first, second and third prizes for his work. He is Past President of the Professional Photographers of Northern California and of the Professional Photographers of the State of California. However, his highest honor came from the Professional Photographers of America, the master of photography degree. Only a handful of photographers in the entire state of California have attained this degree.

S.S.F. Wants Guarantees That Flood Plans Will Work

South San Francisco is in a hurry to initiate a project to reduce flooding in the "Industrial City," particularly in a tract known as Francisco Terrace.

But — at the same time — most city councilmen want to be reasonably guaranteed that the expenditure of some $84,000 this summer on two related drainage tasks will result in protection of the Francisco Terraces from a five-year storm of about the same intensity as that of last January 29.

They don't want to sink that much money into the program, just to find out after the first storm (unless it's an unusually big one that would exceed the anticipated results of the project) that it wasn't the solution after all.

The Council recently asked City Engineer Louis Goss to study the matter and file a report on his findings, along with his recommendations.

Goss did so, but certain councilmen thought the co-efficients used by Goss should be double-checked for accuracy of premise by "an expert" in the field of hydraulic engineering.

Actually, the over-all drainage plan would cost in excess of $300,000, however it was Goss' opinion that finances would allow only two stages at this time.

His selection of two phases would provide, he says, beneficial results within the limitations of a five-year storm, and could be coupled with the over-all plan in the future.

Goss, presenting a report on improving Spruce Avenue drainage, has acknowledged that the "only permanent" solution to the flooding in South San Francisco, and Francisco Terrace in particular, "is the improvement and enlargement of the Colma Creek channel."

Such work is being studied by the U.S. Corps of Engineers, with a report due in Washington, D. C., sometime in July.

However, Goss also points out, "It will be at least seven years before Colma Creek can be improved."

Thus, he has made certain recommendations to intermally cope with the problem.

He notes that the "primary cause" of the backup of water into Francisco Terrace during the January 29 storm was the "high flood flow in Colma Creek which imposed a 4 1/2-foot head of water above the top of the outlet of the existing 4 1/2-foot by 10-foot concrete box culvert at Colma Creek."

Goss explains further, "Since the storm discharge approached the capacity of the existing culvert, a corresponding head of water was required at the entrance to the culvert which was above the elevation of the floors of approximately 30 homes."

Restricted capacity of the stone arch culvert under the Southern Pacific's railroad tracks further contributed to the water back-up, Goss says.

Alternate No. 1, which is estimated to cost $49,390, is recommended for immediate construction. It would provide for the installation of an 84-inch concrete pipe from the end of the existing 66-inch pipe on the east side of Spruce Avenue north of Huntington Avenue to run under the SP tracks and connect to the existing box culvert.

This alternate, Goss points out, can be incorporated into Alternate No. 3 at such time that an additional box culvert is installed in Spruce Avenue.

Alternate No. 4 which is estimated to cost $32,910, is also recommended to be installed at this time. That alternate would provide a second outlet into Colma Creek at an angle downstream from the Spruce Avenue bridge. This alternate, Goss says, will result in a lower discharge head of about a foot during storms similar in intensity to that of January 29.

Alternate No. 4 also is designed to become incorporated into Alternate No. 3.

Pacifica Can Profit By This Census

It may cost the City of Pacifica less than $7,400 to learn that it has a population (unofficial at the moment) of 35,314 that could lead to receipt of between $70,000 and $80,000 in state aid over the next three years.

The City Council authorized the transfer of $7,400 from its general fund to pay for the special census that sent some 30 Pacifica residents into the field for door-to-door enumeration.

City Manager Bill Masonheimer thinks the cost may be less than that requested.

He said the city could expect over $20,000 more in state funds this year, as a result of the boost in population.

Masonheimer lauded Bob Keyes, director of the city's Community Development Department, and Jim Swayne, assistant City Manager, for their roles in spearheading the census.

Damage Claimed

Claims for nearly $400,000 in damages caused by flooding in the Francisco Terrace district of South San Francisco were scheduled to come before the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

In addition to the county, similar claims are being filed with the Colma Creek Flood Control District and the cities of South San Francisco, Daly City and San Bruno.

There are 29 claims in all, each asking sums ranging from $290 to $25,325 for actual damage done by floodwaters. The total of actual damages is $201,592.

In addition, all but three of the homeowners ask $7,750 each for diminution of the value of their property because of the flooding, totaling another $195,000.

The claims, filed by attorney John Sherman, assert that Francisco Terrace has inadequate drainage facilities and that there is improper construction at the place where the Spruce Avenue culvert connects with Colma Creek. The floods were last January 29 and 30.

Lawsuit Filed On Land Assessing

The constitutionality of two concepts governing the assessment of land for tax purposes is attacked in a lawsuit filed in Superior Court Friday on behalf of developer Henry Doelger and several of his companies.

The suit challenges the legality of the agricultural preserve, in which lands committed as open space for 10 years are given a 70 per cent reduction in valuation.

It also attacks the validity of the law that requires owners contesting their assessments to prove that the assessor is wrong about the value of the land in question, and not merely show that it is assessed differently than other similar properties.

Doelger, who has large holdings in the Half Moon Bay-Moss Beach area and has announced plans for a vast residential development there, has not placed his lands in the preserve.

The result of the assessor's states, is to give Doelger property a valuation 70 per cent higher than those assigned to other similar properties in the area. It is alleged that the action is "unfair and discriminatory" and is a "violation of the duty of the assessor to assess all property on a fair and equitable basis."

Doelger's appeal last year to the Board of Tax Appeals was denied. The suit charges that the denial was a "violation of the board's duty to equalize property tax assessments."

The suit asks for the return of $110,990 in taxes paid under protest by Henry Doelger Builders Inc., $7,303 by State Building Supply and Equipment Co., $3,116 by Skyline Shopping Center Inc., $6,130 by Princeton Properties Inc., and $17,799 by Henry and Thelma Doelger.

The county of San Mateo and the city of Half Moon Bay are asked to return the taxes in the proper proportions.

If the court should decide not to order the taxes repaid, the suit asks that the case be remanded back to the tax appeals board with instructions to equalize assessments "on the basis of the value of the properties of like character and similarly situated."

Pacifica Favors Modified Route

City councilmen in Pacifica have directed its representative to the San Mateo County Regional Planning Commission to move for consideration of a modified Crystal Springs reservoir area route as outlined in a February 8 report submitted to county supervisors.

This route, it was explained, was contained in a report of a survey authorized by the State Division of Highways.

A routing to the east, sandwiched between the once-approved edgewater freeway proposal and the San Francisco-sought ridge route, was outlined in a study submitted to county supervisors by the firm of Hall and Goodhue.

The council discussed a plea from Alan Hart, district highway engineer, to instruct Rick Wallis, the council's representative on the RPC, to press for deletion of section II-A of a report that body also filed in February.

With the modified proposal all recreational areas, of concern to the City and County of San Francisco, could be skirted, a Pacifica councilman explained.

The Pacificans also will urge the portion of section II-A referring to interchange.

NICK GUST, new Pacifica mayor, presents plaque with detachable gavel to Mrs. Grace McCarthy as a memento of her past year's services as mayor of that coastal community. (Post Photo)

Crocker Park Grows

Crocker Industrial Park, Brisbane, is opening Unit Number Three in an expansion move. William F. Morton, vice president and general manager of Crocker Land Company, park owners, announced today.

The new area of the park, covering some 45 acres, was opened ahead of schedule since Units 1 and 2 have already been occupied with 41 tenants in 33 buildings, Morton noted.

Crocker Industrial Park has most recently added Norda Essential Oil & Chemical Co., Garehime Corporation, and American Can Company to its list of tenants.

Crocker Industrial Park is located on a 250-acre site, designed especially for offices, regional distribution centers, and light industry, in northern San Mateo County, just south of San Francisco.

Pacifica Repeals Parking Ban

An ordinance repealing a section of Pacifica's law banning 2 to 4 a.m. parking on Escalero Drive, between Peralta Road and Crespi Drive, was passed by city councilmen Wednesday.

The ordinance prohibiting the early morning parking had been adopted in late April, after some Escalero residents complained of at least one resident having "five or six cars and a tow truck" on the street. After the "No Parking" signs had been installed, Pacifica police started issuing warnings.

Firm Wins School Job

Pacifica's new police facility, on Laguna Salada school district property adjoining city hall, will be constructed by the

Charles Krato Co. of Pacifica. Councilmen Wednesday night awarded a contract for the building after accepting Krato's bid of $43,166.

They were still in the warning stage when the matter came up again Wednesday.

Police Chief Neil Tremaine indicated in a memorandum to City Manager Bill Masonheimer that some "hardships" might be involved in the original ban. He stated that perhaps "more harm than good" was resulting, because conditions required that some persons park on the street at night.

The "condition of the street has improved," Masonheimer pointed out.

Coast Transit In Jam Again

The four year old El Mar Transit system in Pacifica is in a financial jam again and could fold in late June if it doesn't get some type of municipal and business community aid soon, city council was told.

Pacifica's City Council has been asked to help in some program to provide a subsidy of $500 to assure continued operation of the "Little Red Bus" system.

The City in 1966 allocated $200 a month for advertising on two buses — a legal way of avoiding a direct subsidy to John Cushing, the owner-operator of the firm.

Additionally, shopping centers agreed to purchase advertising space.

This year, Cushing won a Laguna Salada School District contract to transport certain students. But, it has been pointed out by the city's Transportation Committee that the lean, no-school months are coming and the city-wide bus system cannot support itself.

Gerry Schumacher, a long-time El Mar Transit booster and a member of the Transportation Committee, Wednesday urged the council to take the leadership in working out a financing program with shopping center officers.

Schumacher said Cushing could be out of business on June 30 if the transit system doesn't get financial aid, and suggested the city sit down with presidents of the shopping centers to see "what kind of program can be worked out."

Schumacher explained that the city's assistance would be the difference between what the shopping centers might be willing to provide and the $500.

He thought $200 would be what the city could expect to pay under that circumstance.

Mayor Nick Gust pointed out that in the past it has been the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce's role to solicit shopping center participation.

Councilmen Vainly Dip in Own Pockets

Unable to dip into municipal funds for an "unauthorized" expenditure, Pacifica City Councilmen offered citizen Pat Haggerty $25 from their own pockets as reimbursement for rental of a chain saw used in a voluntary tree-cutting job by Haggerty and Richard Passafiume.

Haggerty refused the money, charging the matter wasn't being given proper consideration.

Councilmen — sure that they would be presented a $24 bill for the saw rental — dug into their pockets during a study session prior to Wednesday's regular council meeting.

Haggerty did appear. He explained how he had spent the $25 to "save the city $400 or $500."

Haggerty handed the bill to Mayor Nick Gust, who in turn extended to Haggerty the $25.

Haggerty wouldn't accept.

Councilman Daniel Modena "moved" the "money in Mayor Gust's hand" be given Haggerty.

"And Haggerty moves Mr. Haggerty refuse," Haggerty snapped back, charging later that the council was "letting this die without a proper investigation."

The mayor said it would be looked into.

City Manager Bill Masonheimer declined to pay the rental fee when Haggerty brought it to his attention because there appeared to be no authorization for renting the saw.

Haggerty, charging that the city's saw would not work, went out on his own to rent the saw so Passafiume would not have to work so hard with an axe to chop down the trees on Reina Del Mar.

There was discord, Haggerty explained, between him and the city over the condition of the municipal saw. The city said it worked fine — Haggerty disagreed.

He said repairs made to the ignition, sharpening of blades and adjustment of the chain indicated to him that there had been, indeed, something wrong with it.

Mayor Nick Gust said he didn't know who directed the two trees be cut down.

Passafiume said he received an indication of approval from Masonheimer.

"I don't even know what trees he cut down," replied Masonheimer.

Masonheimer said he sent a park foreman out to mark the proper trees.

Top levels of Pacifica city government apparently approved some voluntary trimming of certain trees.

However, two trees were cut down.

Mayor Gust said he was "glad" the volunteer project had ended, though he was "sorry it happened in this way."

Bacon, Eggs Make Veal Rolls Filler

Bacon and eggs may come to your breakfast table or find themselves paired in a sandwich often. But have you ever served them as a filling for meat rolls? Fillings such as these and others spread on meat to be rolled and cooked add new interest to popular cuts like round steak. In the case of veal which is delicately flavored, it's a way of adding even more interest.

After browning, the veal rolls are cooked with canned tomatoes, another favorite companion to this meat.

VEAL ROLLS DE LUXE
2 veal round steaks, cut 1/2 inch thick
1 slice bacon
1 hard-cooked egg, diced
1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
1 can (2 ounces) mushroom pieces, if desired
2 tablespoons lard or bacon drippings
Salt and pepper
1 1/2 cups canned tomatoes
Flour for gravy

Cut bacon into small squares and combine with diced egg, onion and 2 tablespoons mushrooms. Cut veal into 6 pieces approximately 3x4 1/2 inches. Spread veal with bacon and egg mixture. Roll and fasten with a wooden pick. Brown rolls in lard or drippings. Season. Add tomatoes and remaining mushrooms. Cover and cook in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 45 minutes to 1 hour or until tender. Remove rolls, thicken tomato liquid for gravy. 6 servings.

Barbecued

Hot Dogs

For Teeners

"Why don't we have something I like?" Any mother is familiar with this comment from a teen-ager who can eat the same thing for weeks at a time with little variation.

"Something I like" can fall into a category characterized by hot dogs, hamburgers, pizza and milk shakes. If mother gives in to this request, she can serve barbecued frankfurters built into a balanced meal.

Balance the menu with French fried potatoes, coleslaw or green salad and a milk shake. Hot dogs may be served with buns.

Wieners are a convenience food. If this barbecue sauce is prepared in advance, it needs only to be heated with the franks for ten minutes.

Barbecued Frankfurters
2 pounds frankfurters, cut diagonally in 1-inch pieces
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 cup catsup
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1/4 cup water
1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper, if desired

Combine all ingredients except frankfurters. Simmer 20 minutes. Add frankfurters and cook slowly 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. 8 servings.

Sour Cream Dressing Tip

Chicken Salad
Sour Cream Dressing
Basket of Assorted Rolls
Rhubarb Crisp Beverage

SOUR CREAM DRESSING
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 cup milk
1 egg
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1/2 cup commercial sour cream

In the top of a double boiler stir together the salt, sugar and mustard. Gradually stir in 1/4 cup of the milk, keeping smooth. Add egg; beat until combined. Add remaining 1/4 cup milk. Slowly stir in the vinegar. Cook over simmering water, do not have water touch double-boiler top, stirring constantly, until sauce is as thick as thin white sauce. Cover and cool. Gradually fold into the sour cream. Cover and chill. Makes a little more than one cup.

Fine California Honey Offer Flavors to Suit Every Taste

Honey to many casual buyers means only a deliciously sweet product that is sold in the form of liquid, creamed or comb honey. This is true, but these forms of honey come in many flavors.

Because California is blessed with a wide variety of soil and climatic conditions this produces a wide range of plants.

Each flowering plant has its characteristic aroma which is imparted to the nectar the honeybee gathers. This aroma is condensed further in the honey made from it by the honeybee.

Nectar is the result of soil moisture, warmth, sunshine and minerals from the soil incorporated in the form of a carbohydrate nature manufactures for the plant and its leaves.

This carbohydrate, known as sucrose is changed by the honeybee into easily digested simple sugars known as dextrose and levulose. Plants produce enzymes and vitamins and these become part of the nectar.

In converting nectar into honey the honeybee adds additional enzymes. The bees also reduce nectar until the honey becomes one of our most concentrated liquid foods.

Honeys from different sources vary in color and flavor. It is natural for honey to granulate. Some flavors granulate quicker than others, but they are all pure honey.

Crystallized honey can be converted into liquid honey again simply by placing the container in warm water until the crystals go into solution. The water should not be heated much higher than 145 to 160 degrees Fahrenheit to prevent the honey becoming darker in color. Many people favor finely granulated or "creamed" honey to that in the liquid state. This is now available in the markets.

All honeys have one thing in common; whether light or dark in color, mild or strong flavor, they are all pure honey. Nothing has been added in the few simple steps necessary in preparing honey for the customer.

All honeys contain the same minerals, vitamins and enzymes, although in somewhat different quantities. The opportunity of selecting honeys in different flavors, either by their floral source or by brand labels, and of buying honey either in the liquid, creamed or comb adds to the interest. Honey offers a delightful and healthful sweet for the young and old alike.

Among the most popular varieties available in California are:

Alfalfa, with some clover-like characteristics.

Sage and Sage-Buckwheat, the all-purpose honey.

Orange, a reminder of California's glorious fruit.

There are many other flavors, usually found in local areas where they are produced. Generally, the light color is more mild in flavor. Always read the label to find your favorite flavor.

You can experiment using honey in your favorite recipes, but bear in mind:

1. To measure honey with ease, wet or oil the cup or spoon first.

2. Honey may be used in place of other sweeteners. Replace equal amounts up to one cup.

3. Decrease liquid 1/4 cup for each cup of honey used to adjust for natural moisture found in honey.

4. Reduce baking temperature 25 degrees to prevent over-browning.

5. Honey sweetened baked goods are more flavorful the next day.

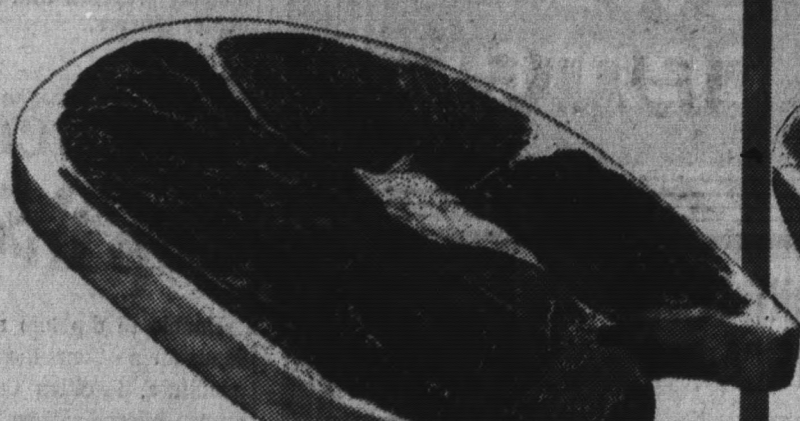

6. Honey cakes and cookies are tender and moist.

7. Add honey to shortening slowly, in a fine stream, blending well for a better volume and texture.

Cake Decoration

A delightful decoration for a chocolate cake is made with blanched almonds (plain or toasted) and semi-sweet chocolate. Just dip one end of each almond in a little of the melted chocolate and insert the undipped ends of the nuts in the cake frosting. You'll need at least a dozen of the almonds for the top of the cake, but of course, more may be used for a lavish effect.

Juice Helps Applesauce

When making applesauce, try cooking the pared apples in canned orange-apricot juice instead of water, adding a small amount of sugar and cinnamon. Notice the delightful flavor. For another different taste, try orange-pineapple juice.

Fritters 'n Ham

Fruit fritters make a delectable accompaniment to fried chicken or ham; or the fritters may be served as a dessert. For dessert, accompany the fritters with a sauce.

California Cows Anticipated State Population Trends

Undaunted by population explosions and California's burgeoning millions, the dairy industry of California goes right on doing what comes naturally according to Douglas Fisk, manager of the Dairy Council of California. The council represents all the state's vital and vigorous milk producers, distributors and processors.

"Few people realize," said Fisk, "that dairying is essentially a daily business and that it involves basically milk logistics... or getting the right amount of milk and other dairy foods to the right place at the right time."

With the ever-increasing number of mouths to be fed in terms of millions of half pints, quarts, half gallons and gallons of fresh-daily products, this is no mean problem.

"The gearing has been going on for decades," said the dairy spokesman, "as men of the industry continue to step up production, modernize, construct new facilities, anticipate trends and needs with great expertise."

It is clear that the dairy industry is meeting all challenges and we reflect that if one single newcomer or old-timer could not find milk on any given day, there would be quite a fuss.

In addition to filling daily fluid milk needs, the state's dairy industry leads the country in production of daily-fresh cottage cheese with an estimated 137 million pounds produced last year. It supplied California's appetite for ice cream and other frozen milk products to the sweet tune of over 115½ million gallons (that's a lot of quarts and pints). Evaporated milk plants dot our landscape and put out over 140½ million pounds of this versatile, easily storable product.

The state takes pride, too, in its growing number of nonfat dry milk establishments that processed for human consumption well over 71½ million pounds of milk and put it into convenient packages, an increase of 49.7 per cent over 1966 production. Another 651 thousand pounds went into dry milk for animal feed. Inventive minds at work in the industry had long been directed toward a way of preserving nonfat milk but commercial production was first reported in 1916.

Fisk said the dairy industry now supplies 19 million plus of California's population with its multiplicity of products, daily-fresh; and that it is also geared for those approximately 1,500 new residents and visitors arriving daily and is mindful of the approximately 1,000 babies that continue to make themselves heard each and every day as 1968 moves along.

Crumbs Rush To the Rescue

When you get too much liquid in frosting and you've just run out of powdered sugar, let granular crumbs come to your rescue. Roll the crumbs until they are fine and add to the frosting until it is of spreading consistency. These crumbs absorb the unwanted moisture and give a tasty nut-like flavor to the frosting.

Instant minced onion is a good addition to baked rice. Serve the rice with meat or fish.

Casseroles As Ever Are A Favorite

Casseroles continue to be as much of a favorite as ever. There's an ease of preparation, serving and keeping-hot feature to casserole cookery that's difficult to duplicate.

Though casseroles are sometimes thought of as catch-alls for a novel assortment of leftovers, they aren't. Start with fresh, canned or frozen foods and just see how delightful they can really be.

Does the family like scalloped potatoes? They can be baked in a casserole with pork chops, giving an hour and a half of carefree cooking time to a homemaker busy with ironing, gardening or mending. Advance preparation is not extensive since milk-thinned mushroom soup goes over both chops and potatoes. Coriander supplies an interesting flavor accent.

What about turning ground beef, frozen mixed vegetables and mushroom soup into an Oriental-style casserole? It's easily done with soy sauce and Chinese noodles. And good enough for a buffet supper, too!

Either of these casseroles may be served with a chilled vegetable salad or a molded fruit one, hot biscuits with honey-butter and an ice cream cake.

Savory Scalloped Pork Chops

6 pork loin chops, cut ¾ inch thick
1½ tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
5 cups thinly-sliced potatoes (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 cup milk
½ cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon ground coriander
Spread pork chops lightly in prepared mustard and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Arrange browned chops alternately with sliced potatoes in a 2½-quart casserole. Combine soup, milk, celery, minced onion, salt, pepper and coriander in frying-pan in which meat was browned. Heat, then pour soup mixture over potatoes and chops. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1½ hours. Six servings.

Shanghai Casserole

2 pounds ground beef
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 package (10½ ounces) frozen mixed vegetables
½ cup water
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 cups chopped celery
1 can (3 ounces) Chinese noodles
Brown ground beef in lard or drippings. Add chopped onion and cook until tender. Pour off drippings. Cook mixed vegetables in water 5 minutes and drain. Combine vegetables, mushroom soup, salt, pepper, soy sauce and celery and stir into meat mixture. Place in a 2½-quart casserole. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Remove cover, sprinkle with Chinese noodles and bake 5 minutes longer. Six to eight servings.

Grape Jelly Used For Glazing Ham

When grape jelly is on hand, try this recipe.

Grape Glazed Ham
Yam Puff
Asparagus Salad Bowl
Lemon Snow with Custard sauce

GRAPE GLAZED HAM

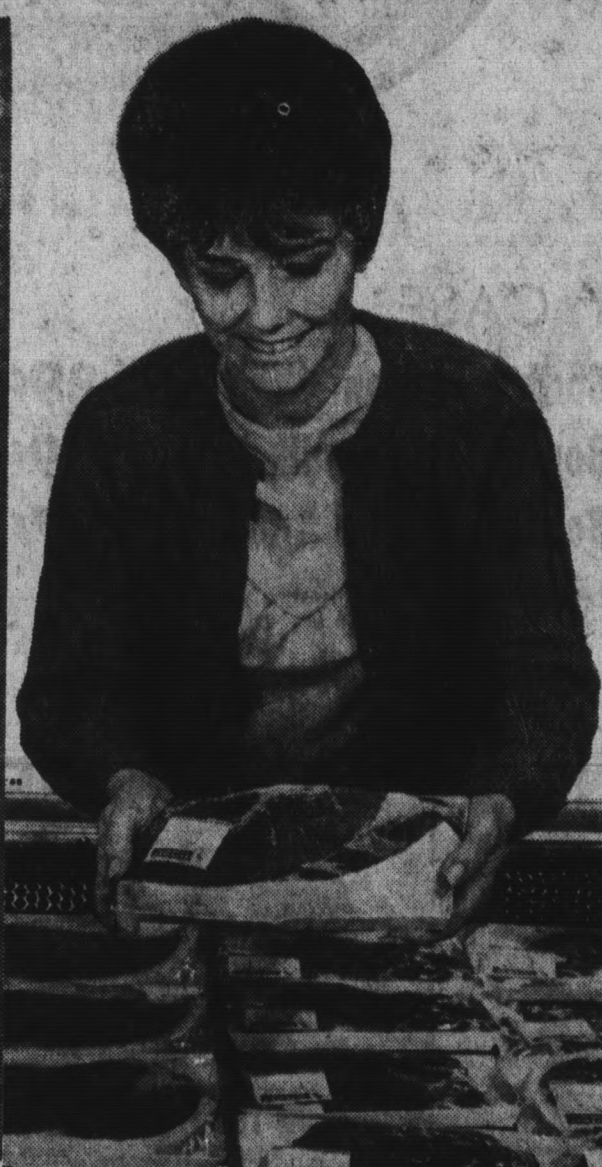

5-to 6-pound fully-cooked half ham butt end
Whole cloves
½ cup grape jelly
2 tablespoons dry sherry. Cut away brown surface from fat on ham; score fat in diamond shape. Insert a whole clove in each diamond. Place on a rack, top fat up, in a shallow foil-lined pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 15 to 30 minutes per pound — depending on how dry you like ham. Remove from oven; take ham on rack from pan and remove foil and fat. Line pan with clean foil and return ham minus rack to pan. Mix together the grape jelly and sherry; spread over ham. Bake in a 425-degree oven for 10 minutes to glaze.

THE POST'S WORLD OF BUSINESS

Employees Honor Bruno Businessman

Ten years as a successful businessman in San Bruno and Pacifica was the reason for the recent tribute to William Isackson of Rose Department Store, marking the anniversary of his acquisition of the San Mateo Avenue store in San Bruno.

A surprise event attended by employees and their guests was held at International Joe's in Daly City. Master of ceremonies was Fred Mandley, manager of Ross Men and Boys' Store in San Bruno.

Recounted was the measure of growth and success attained by Isackson in ten years.

It was April 18, 1958, that Isackson signed the final papers for purchase of the Ross Dept. Store from Morris Ross.

The store housed a men's and boys' department, women's clothing and departments for children and infants' wear.

Although Isackson had been in the construction business before becoming a department store owner, he wasn't unfamiliar with the business, since his parents operated a store in Wisconsin.

THE POST AUTO WORLD

April Sales Roundup — Dodge dealers in the San Francisco region recorded an all-time high for the sale of passenger cars and trucks for April 1968. R. D. Loomis, regional manager, reported that passenger car sales for the month were 35.7 per cent greater than the month of April last year. For the model year to date, Dodge dealers have posted a 22.6 per cent increase in total sales over the 1967 period, according to Loomis.

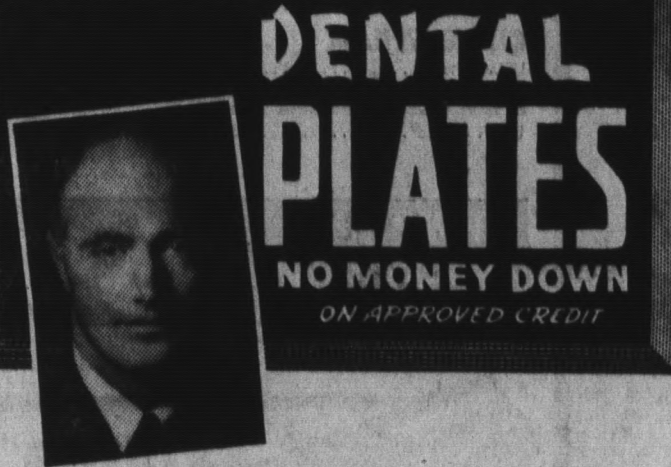

The Chrysler-Plymouth Division recorded its eighth consecutive month of record retail sales in April. With 87,632 retail deliveries in April, division sales were 4.98 units—six per cent—above the 82,724 deliveries recorded in April, 1967. Plymouth sales were up 10 per cent over last year's 292,046, while Buick dealers posted their biggest sales month in over 12 years by selling 70,019 cars in April, including a record 9,012 compared to 80,928 in April, 1967.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS

Brush After Meals
Brushing after meals not only helps to remove food particles from which decay acids are formed, but also helps to remove the bacteria that are responsible for producing the acid. So get in the habit of brushing after every meal.

Brush Thoroughly
Even if you brush after every meal, success in preventing decay won't be achieved unless you brush thoroughly. Use a good toothbrush that is in good condition. Please ask your dentist about proper brushing of teeth.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth, as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

ON CAMERA—Bruce Benton, right, video-tapes two of participants in the sixth annual Oceana P-TA fashion show, to be presented at the high school caféteria at 8 p.m., Thursday. At left is Jerry Buchanan, who is overseeing staging and backstage arrangements, and Mary Ann Harrington.

Video Tape Style Show for Oceana

Continuing a yearly tradition, the Oceana P-TA will hold its sixth annual Fashion Show on Thursday, May 16, at 8 p.m., in the Oceana cafeteria.

This year the show is going to be video-taped by student cameramen to fit in with the theme of a television show on the order of Johnny Carson's.

The title of the show is "Studio 71." The five commentators will role-play various members in the fashion world and the show's hosts.

The commentators for the show will be Gail Simon as the hostess, Mary Giovinco as the fashion photographer, Sue Borras as a modeling agency representative, Kathy McLennan as a magazine editor, and Debbie Kempton as a Paris designer.

Keeping in tradition with major television programs, Shiraz Alikhan will serve as the announcer, and Rich Westby and John Overton will hold "laugh" and "applause" cards. Chairman for this year's show is Vicki Zielen, with assistance from Sheryl Graham. The script was written by Chairman Sue Borras, with Denise Kermabon, Kathy McLennan, Debbie Kempton and Judy Urbanshitz. Modeling classes held after school are headed by Pam Carrigg and Debbie Kempton, who help the girls find poses, if necessary, and train them to walk properly.

The staging is being seen to by Jerry Buchanan and Pam Carrigg and backstage arrangements, that include checking the clothes and cueing models, are being handled by Louise Bradley and Wanda Hoyer.

The programs are being handled by Sue Fryburger and Carol Simonini while the secretaries are Pam Glicks and Cathy Wait.

Jerry Brackett is in charge of the food to be served after the show and Kathy Alexander and Chris Gibbs head up the hostesses also provided by the foods classes.

Erosion Is Fought By Jefferson

Final plans for slope stabilization and erosion control at eight Jefferson Elementary District schools was presented to the Board of Trustees last week by engineer Bill Chapman.

Chapman, of Kirker and Chapman, South San Francisco, recommended a new slope stabilizing system called "Hold-a-Slope," consisting of a series of flower boxes planted at intervals across the face of a slope for the Olympia site.

Schools included in the project are Franklin D. Roosevelt, Christopher Columbus, Thomas Edison, M. Pauline Brown, Garden Village, Olympia, Crocker and George Washington.

Cost of the project, which is expected to go out to bid shortly, is estimated at $231,000, Chapman informed the trustees.

Kindergarten Signups In SSF Now

Kindergarten registration is being taken now in the South San Francisco Unified School district and will continue through May 24.

Superintendent Paul Nielsen has requested cooperation of parents in registering their children during this time as information on kindergarten enrollment is needed to provide adequate class space in the district schools.

Registration is from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. at elementary schools.

Parents are advised they need not bring children for registration, but they must bring the birth certificate or notarized affidavit of birth date. A child is eligible for kindergarten next school year if born on or before Dec. 1, 1963.

Information about completion of measles and polio immunization also is needed for registering the child, Nielsen advised.

The four South San Francisco square dance clubs, Square Chics, Forty-niners, Gingham Squares and the Whirl-a-Ways, invite South City residents to the Northern California Golden State Square Dance Roundup in Oakland May 25 and 26.

The festivities will start with the Trail Dances on Friday night and the Roundup gets underway Saturday morning with a 10 a.m. parade in downtown Alameda. Both the Gingham Squares and Forty-niners have entered floats.

Guests are also welcome to all the Saturday events starting at 12 noon in the Oakland Auditorium. Activities will be continuous except during the dinner hours.

Participating in the exhibition shows will be the Bay Area's nationally known teen-age dancers, the Stardettes and the adult group, the Squarenaders. Approximately 4,000 dancers attend the annual Roundup.

Invading the school nurse's office with their chemicals, developing equipment, and cameras are the Westmoor High School Photography Club.

The recently formed Photo Club needed a darkroom to develop their prints and negatives. The nurse's office seemed to be the ideal spot to set up a darkroom, since one of the rooms has no windows.

With the permission of those concerned, the Photography Club began to set up their equipment on April 25 and held their first "darkroom meeting" on April 28. When School Nurse Phyllis Colbert was asked how she felt about having to share her office with the Photo Club, she stated, "It is just fine, they're very neat; in fact the back of the office is the cleanest it's ever been."

Jim Musselwhite, club president, and Dave Hennessey are instructing club members in the technique of developing prints and negatives.

Once all the equipment is set up the members will be able to develop their negatives and enlarge them to make prints without leaving the campus.

Most of their equipment and chemicals were purchased with a $50 grant from the student body.

The Photo Club now plans to start a school photo service, where members will process pictures for the students of Westmoor. In this way they hope to raise money for the club, while keeping the photography in practice.

Adviser to the club is Herbert Goodyear.

School Safety Guard Sought

City councilmen in Pacifica Wednesday referred to its Safety Commission a request for a crossing guard at the intersection of Hickey Boulevard and Inverness Drive.

The district wants the guard to protect youngsters who will be required to cross Hickey to attend the schools to which they have been assigned. Trustees of the school district recently adopted new attendance areas, with some changes involved.

S.S.F. Firemen Seek CD Unit

South San Francisco Fire Department is looking for interested men who wish to participate in the civilian defense unit of the department. They would assist in cases of flood, earthquake or any other disaster and will be trained in fire fighting, rescue and first aid.

Snacks Now A Daily Diet

Between meal snacking has become a regular part of California youngsters' daily activity. They troop in from playing and loudly clamor for something to fill in before dinner. There is nothing wrong with snacking, especially if the snacks add up to good nutrition; and not just empty calories.

If it's your turn to feed the neighborhood crowd, you can whip up a batch of nifty snacks that will delight the small fry in nothing flat starting with slices of bread and honey. Bread is known to all as the staff of life and honey is a natural quick energy food. Like bread, honey comes in many flavors and styles. The flavor is determined by the nectar the bees gather and bring back to the hive. Most honey is purchased in liquid form. Now we find creamy crystallized honey in the markets. Like liquid honey it does not spoil. It is spreadable, which makes it ideal to use as a base for a topping of peanut butter, chopped peanuts, sesame seeds or toasted coconut. If the crowd topping are toasted, all you have to do is run the batch under the broiler for a few seconds.

Serve with glasses of cold milk. If desired the low fat milk can be slightly sweetened with honey. It's mighty popular with the hungry crowd that can't wait for dinner.

Cream Dessert Is Suited to This State

Dairying is California's number one agricultural industry so it is no wonder that we pay special honor to this year's annual June Dairy Month. Last year our bountiful bovines came through with a whopping average of 11,170 pounds per cow; up a bit over last year. This is a good indication of the top quality care given the approximately 781,000 of these benign beasts residing in our Golden State.

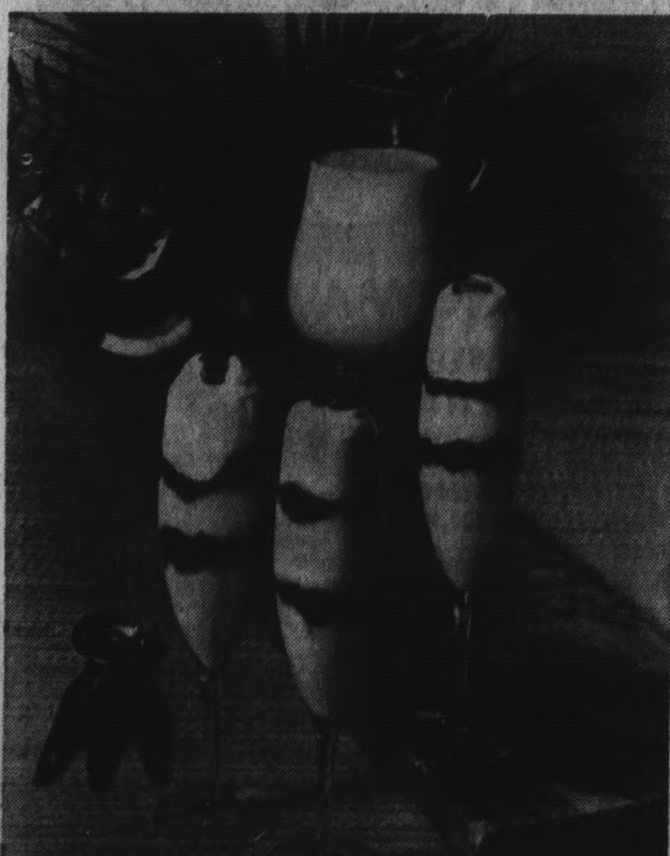

Milk-rich Strawberry Bavarian Cream was especially designed for enjoyment at this season of top milk production. The delicate flavor and texture of the basic Bavarian Cream lends itself well not only to popular strawberries available now but also to blueberries, peaches and raspberries in their season. Recipe makes 8 to 10 servings.

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
3 cups milk
3 eggs, separated
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond extract, optional
1 cup (1/2 pint) whipping cream, whipped
Fresh or frozen strawberries
Softened gelatin in 1/2 cup milk. Combine beaten egg yolks, salt and 1/2 cup sugar; mix well. Stir in remaining milk and softened gelatin. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture coats a metal spoon. Chill until mixture begins to set. Stir in vanilla and almond extracts. Beat egg whites until they are foamy. Gradually add remaining 1/2 cup sugar and continue beating until eggs hold soft peaks. Fold into egg yolk mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into 2-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve with strawberries and additional sweetened whipped cream.

Cereal Speed-Up
A cinch for speed is your breakfast bowl of cereal with its whole parcel of food values plus the unexcelled nutrient values of milk. You need not mention this to the children, but actually cereal with milk and sugar gives them vitamin B complex, protein, energy values, calcium, iron and phosphorus. This is good!

When it comes to cereals we counted around 80 different kinds on a nearby supermarket's shelves the other day; wheat, corn, oats and rice in all kinds of sizes, textures and tastes.

There is nothing in the Blue Book of Etiquette that says that ready-to-eat cereals should not be served right at the table alongside a pitcher of milk, with the children picking their favorites and re-filling as appetite demands.

CELEBRATE the bounty of the bovine during the coming dairy month with this milk-rich Strawberry Bavarian Cream. The flavor-wedded bliss of strawberries and cream was never better than at this season of the year.

From South of the Border Mold Mexican Fiesta Salad

Add a touch of old Mexico to your next buffet dinner and serve this molded avocado salad that will bring back memories of that favorite dish, guacamole. Avocados have a smooth, rich, bland flavor that's not sweet or tart, but sometimes described as nut-like. Here, mashed avocados are combined with dairy sour cream, onion and a hint of chili powder. For a pleasant texture, color and flavor contrast to the creamy smooth, pastel salad, add a can of crisp golden whole kernel corn with red and green sweet peppers. Mexican foods are a galaxy of color and the corn adds a gay fiesta touch.

To round out your meal, serve crisp tortilla chips and tasty barbecued ribs. This salad is best when prepared in the morning to serve later in the day. It's another time-saving, ingenious recipe to add to your collection.

MEXICAN FIESTA SALAD
3 large ripe avocados
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
3/4 teaspoon chili powder
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup water
1 cup dairy sour cream
One 12-oz. can golden whole kernel corn with red and green sweet peppers, drained
Peel avocados; remove seed, Mash avocados. Add salt, chili powder, lemon juice and onion. Soften gelatin in water. Dissolve over hot water. Add sour cream, corn and avocado mixture; blend well. Pour into a 1 1/4-quart ring mold. Chill until firm, 3 to 4 hours. Unmold onto lettuce-lined plate. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

New Cola Product on Shelf

The current population explosion isn't confined to the human family as anyone can plainly see. Our supermarket shelves are overflowing with hundreds of new products. Take the cola family for instance. Multi-flavored colas, diet colas, colas in cans and bottles of all sizes are there to suit individual preferences. And now a new cola that boasts that it, unlike its cola relatives, is 99 per cent caffeine-free.

So give a Cola After-the-Game-Buffer. Serve it "neat" and stir it into a Mile-High Cola Brownie Torte. Here's an after-the-game, no last-minute-fuss menu that lets you cheer from the grandstand and still serve the hungry hoard in record time after the game. Tasty and hearty for your hungry heroes.

Make the Dilly Dip and the Mile-High Cola Brownie Torte the day ahead and refrigerate them until serving time. Arrange salad greens in a bowl ready to toss with your favorite dressing at the last minute. And have on hand all the makings of the Man-Size Heroes. Assemble them while your athletes devour the dip and crackers in the living room.

YOUR MAKE-AHEAD MENU

Dilly Dip to serve with Crackers and Pretzels
French Bread
Man-Size Hero Sandwiches
Tossed Green Salad
Mile-High Cola Brownie Torte
Cola for the Drinkable
BILLY DIP
2 cans (3½-ounces each) sardines
1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1 8-ounce carton cream-style cottage cheese

1 teaspoon instant minced onion
¼ cup chili sauce
¼ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
1 tablespoon dried dill weed
In a large bowl mash sardines; add remaining ingredients and blend well. Store in the refrigerator. Just before serving, thin the mixture if necessary with a little milk to make it easy dipping consistency. Serve with crackers and pretzels. Makes about ¾ cups dip.

FRENCH BREAD MAN-SIZE HERO SANDWICHES
2 loaves French bread, each about 14-inches long
½ cup mayonnaise
2 4-ounce packages salami
1 cup coleslaw (delicatessen or your own favorite)
2 large tomatoes, thinly sliced
1 8-ounce package Swiss cheese

cheese
1 can (15½-ounces) chili con carne
Split loaves of bread horizontally. Spread cut surfaces with mayonnaise. Cover the bottom bread layers with salami slices, then even layers of cole slaw, tomato slices, Swiss cheese and chili con carne. Top with remaining bread halves. Cut each sandwich diagonally into 4 or 5 man-size servings. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

MILE-HIGH COLA BROWNIE TORTE
2 packages of 6x1¼-inch disposable aluminum cake pans (4 in each package)
2 packages (1-pound each) brownie mix
2 packages (2½-ounce each) whipped topping mix such as Dream Whip
1 cup ice-cold caffeine-free Cola

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Thoroughly grease pans and then dust them lightly with flour. Shake out excess flour. Prepare brownie mix as package label directs. Divide batter among the 8 pans, spreading it out as much as possible. (Don't work too hard to spread batter evenly. Batter will spread more during baking.)

Bake 15 minutes in preheated oven. Quickly loosen brownie layers from sides of pans with a knife. Turn out onto wax paper. Cool thoroughly.

In a deep bowl combine whipped topping mix and cola. Blend, then beat at high speed until topping forms stiff peaks. Spread each brownie layer generously with cola topping. Stack the 8 layers together, one on top of the other. Chill overnight. Cut into wedges. Makes 8 to 10 generous servings.

COCONUT Cream Parfait like these are an "easy to fix but people will think you've worked hours" dessert. The basic custard gets a smooth lift with whipped cream. It's a delightful way to eat your milk in celebration of June Dairy Month.

Parfaits for Daily Quota of Milk

Start with a plain custard, add whipped cream for an even smoother texture, layer it in parfait glasses with strawberry jam and Zowie! you have a smashing dessert. It is one of those "easy to fix but people will think you've worked hours" kind of desserts. An absolutely delightful way to eat part of one's daily milk quota particularly during June as we celebrate the 32nd annual observance of Dairy Month. Recipe makes 6 to 8 parfaits.

2 cups milk
3 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
½ cup flaked coconut
1 cup (½ pint) whipping cream
Strawberry or other favored jam

Warm milk in top of double boiler or over low heat until bubbles form around the edge. Beat together eggs, salt and sugar; gradually stir in half the milk. Pour egg mixture onto remaining milk, stirring constantly. Cook over boiling water or low heat, stirring all the while, until mixture thickens enough to coat a metal spoon. Pour at once into coconut. Cover and chill.

To serve: Whip cream and fold one half into custard mixture. Layer cream custard into parfait glasses alternating it with jam. Top parfait with the remaining whipped cream and a dot of jam.

Secret Of Hollandaise

The only secret to making this never-fail type of Hollandaise is "do not allow it to reach even the simmering point." Melt ¼ cup (½ stick) butter in small saucepan. Stir in 1 cup (½ pint) dairy sour cream. Add 4 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt and a dash of cayenne. Heat but, as mentioned above, do not allow to simmer or boil.

Enamelware Nail Polish

You can have smoother, better-looking handles on enamel cooking ware by giving them a coat of colorless nail polish. This gives added protection against chipping or discoloring.

Last thing we heard about Bruce Hix was that he was playing at Fresno, finally having been converted into a catcher. The word from Giant farm secretary Jack Schwarz is that Hix shows a great deal of aptitude for the position.

As has often been the case with Bruce, he had more than a little to say about where he'd be playing this year. The Giants at first told Bruce that it would be necessary to send him to a low classification, where he could get plenty of work behind the plate. They proposed Decatur, in the Class A Midwest League, where he'd be the first string catcher. He declined that suggestion. The Giants then told him he could go to Amarillo, in Class AA, but that he'd have to play the infield there. He declined that, opting to return to Fresno in the Class A California League which he had torn up in '66.

Schwarz adds, however, that he and the rest of the staff wish that Hix would have gone to Decatur as first string catcher because, "that was the surest and shortest road for him to the top. He has the makings of a good receiver and catchers are always in short supply."

Hix's old football knee, incidentally, held up well during spring training, where he did a lot of work behind the plate.

Franklin Mielu gives about as good an excuse for Candlestick as any we've heard: "The most important thing there was getting it built . . . and they paid the price."

Giant second baseman Ron Hunt, as accident-prone as Buster Keaton, has a readiness-to-play clause in his contract. If he gives them a full season, he makes more money.

Met pitcher Alvin Jackson says that the Mets used to be able to read every pitch that Sandy Koufax threw, "but it didn't do any good," adds Jackson, superfluously.

In a recent issue of the Sporting News, former Cleveland great third baseman Al Rosen called San Mateo's Jim Fregosi a super star, one of the greatest to ever play shortstop.

To give you an idea of how weak the Mets are, their regular third baseman, Ed Charles, was released by the Athletics.

And who is the loser of the year? It has to be the just-mentioned Al Jackson, who started his career with the winning Pirates, was traded to the Mets, traded by them to the pennant-winning Cards, and then, this year, traded back again to the Mets. The first player in history to ever be re-acquired by the Mets!

If we were an outfielder, we'd retire before playing left field for the Dodgers. Their last three — Tommy Davis, Lou Johnson and Al Ferrara — broke their ankles.

The recent optioning of Wally Bunker, who was a 19-year-old pitching sensation in '64, by the Orioles, and of Cincinnati's Gary Nolan, who was a 19-year-old pitching sensation last year, once again points up the dangers of over-working youngsters not fully matured.

In each case the boy was big and looked like a man, and in each case the boy's club needed pitching help badly during the particular periods in which they broke in. In each case, the youngsters were asked to carry a virtually normal pitching load. In each case, apparently, the boy's arm wasn't as matured as the rest of his body appeared to be, and he acquired a sore wing.

Physical maturity is more than just size and strength. It's closer to endurance, and may have something to do, as well, with mental maturity; the ability to withstand the mental pressure in proportion with physical exertion.

Major league clubs are learning more and more about such things, as witness the recent lifting of the Mets' sensational young fireballer Nolan Ryan in the middle of the seventh inning even though nobody was touching him.

"He'd thrown 136 pitches," said Mgr. Gil Hodges, "and we didn't want him to put any more strain on that arm at his age."

LOCAL NOTES: Two big sports dates are coming up locally within the next week. This Saturday the fourth annual Junior Champ Olympics will be held at Terra Nova High under the auspices of the Pacifica Jaycees in cooperation with the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department. The event is co-sponsored by the Pepsi Cola Company along with many of the Pacifica Merchants.

Boys and girls between the ages of nine and 14 will be competing in the program, which begins at 9 a.m. with the opening ceremonies. Track and field competition will immediately follow.

And then, next Wednesday and Thursday, there's the annual Pacifica Open Golf Tournament at Sharp Park.

Sgt. Jim Cook, former Terra Nova and Oceana baseball star now stationed at Fort Huachuca (Arizona), received a bronze star for heroism in action last November in Vietnam.

Marty Coll, former Terra Nova and San Francisco State standout who signed with the Giants last fall, is playing the outfield for Fresno, which is a surprise to many of the Giant brass.

Says Farm Secretary Jack Schwarz, "We didn't figure on Marty being able to play in as fast a league as the California League right off the bat, but he began like a house-a-fire in spring training, and even when they started throwing the curves he didn't drop off like we thought he would. The kid hustled and played his way right into that league."

SURPRISING STATISTICS OF THE WEEK: If our disclosure a couple of weeks ago that the Giants were second in the NL in sacrifice bunts surprised you, try these:

Last year the Giants were third in the league in fielding and in double plays, while Pittsburgh and St. Louis, the teams acknowledged to have the best DP combos in the NL, were only fourth and seventh in DPs, respectively. Which doesn't mean that they DIDN'T have the best keystone men, but only that you can't trust fielding statistics.

Here's another one. The Giants led the NL in team pinch-hitting last year (240 BA), and even more shocking, Tom Haller led the league in pinch-hit average, whacking .417 as a substitute wallpaper. The Giants also had the most total hits (52) in the league, topped the MAJORS in RBI's pinch-hitting (38), and tied for the NL lead in pinch homers with Cincy and Atlanta (4).

If you're interested in Giant competitors in that department, Minnesota and Cleveland were the top two in the AL, with marks of .236 and .253, respectively. The Twins and Baltimore each whacked seven pinch HR's; Washington six, Cleveland five, and the Yanks four. The Twins and Senators were closest to the Giants in RBI's with 35. Pittsburgh had 30. Cleveland and Minnesota, in that order, were tops in the AL in total pinch hits with 60 and 56.

And finally, here's a statistic that won't surprise you at all. Last year the Giants left 151 runners stranded on third with less than two outs.

Terra Nova Halts El Camino '9'

A 'Sweet Victory'

For Tigers

El Camino High School's baseball team, which has been riding a winning crest the entire North Peninsula League season was thrown off its title course Friday by a single game that sent the Colts toward dangerous shoals.

The Colts went into an important contest at Terra Nova sporting a 9-1 record that led the league, with second-place Jefferson two games back at 7-3.

But Terra Nova pulled the rug out from under the leaders with a 3-2 victory that was the Tigers' first over the Colts in four frustrating years.

The triumph was also Terra Nova's fifth straight in a skein that started against Jefferson. "It was a pretty sweet victory for us," said Tiger Coach Al Figue for the Tigers.

The Tigers were trailing 2-1 going into the bottom of the last inning. With one down, Will Downing walked. Bob Turner struck out. Then Gary Hernandez stepped up and delivered the best of all possible clutch hits — a 340-foot home run to left, good for two runs and the game.

For Terra Nova, Bob Turner struck out ten and walked two, allowing three hits.

Bob Brusco got two homers for the Colts, one in the third and one in the sixth; El Camino's third hit was a tricky infield double by Mike Tenorowicz.

Meanwhile Jefferson closed the gap to a single game with an 8-1 trouncing of Oceana. Jeff, with a bye on the last schedule date, has only one game left to play — against El Camino. A win would tie it up, and if the Colts lost the following Friday, Jeff would be league champ.

Jeff took the lead in the bottom of the first when Art Hermosillo sacrificed Russ Runge home from third. But in the second, the Indians blew the game open.

Arnold Galarza was safe on an error, stole second, and dashed to third on a passed ball. Barry Perroni singled home Mike Macia was also safe at first on an error, and on the next play Runge followed suit, with Perroni scoring. With two out, three straight singles by Ken Reitz, Hermosillo, and Tony Moss accounted for the rest of the six-run inning. The Indians added an insurance run in the fifth.

Indian hurler Don Belluomini, now 5-2 in league play, struck out ten and allowed one walk and only one hit. Elsewhere in the NPL, South San Francisco traded fifth place with Half Moon Bay by beating the Cougars 7-3 on the Warrior diamond.

The Warriors scored five times in the first inning, and that was the ball game. Lory Bernardini drew a base on balls, Bruce Brian singled, and Steve Pennington followed with another safety to score Bernardini. Then Lou Lodigiani walked a three-run homer. With two down, Ken Connors was hit by a pitch and added insult to injury by scoring — on errors. Warrior hurler Bob Brian, who struck out five and walked three, has a record of 2-5 — even though his earned run average is less than one.

Serra's Padres Defeat Riordan

The mental anguish of a losing baseball season was diminished with muscle and hope for the future Friday by the Serra High School Padres.

In partial salvation for a 3-7 league record, Serra scored a 4-3 triumph over the tough Riordan Crusaders, the only Western Catholic Athletic League club to defeat Bellarmine twice, on their own San Francisco home diamond.

The margin of the Padre upset in the season's finale for both clubs was a towering home run by left fielder Dennis Rosalia, whose fourth-inning smash to left field sufficiently augmented Serra's three-run burst in the opening stanza.

"That would have been a home run in any park in the league," one observer said of the underclassman's crucial blow.

Rams Take Track Title

One Point Is Enough For Westmoor Triumph

Westmoor High School added just enough achievement to past accomplishment Friday for the 1968 North Peninsula League track and field championship.

Westmoor, which finished the NPL dual meet season with a perfect 6-0 record, shivered its way to runnerup status behind South San Francisco in yesterday's NPL finals at bone-chilling Pacifica.

The Rams' second-place in the finals gave the Daly City aggregation a season's total of eight points, one more than the dangerous South S.F. crew which garnered seven first places in the finals competition, and two more than El Camino, which produced the only varsity record of the day.

Rick Cano, an El Camino miler who may prove tough in next week's Region I championships at College of San Mateo, fought the winds and icy cold through the four-lap grind for a 4:28.9 clocking, which broke the old meet record of 4:34.5 by Mike Hernandez set in 1963.

South San Francisco, which could have tied for the title had Westmoor finished one notch further down, was led by sprinter Russ Cottrell and hurdler king Ashland Whitfield.

Cottrell took both quick races in respective times of 9.8 and 23.6, fighting the sluggish effect of a cross wind. Whitfield, whose 19.3 clocking is the best low hurdles mark in the Central Coast Section, won the highs in 14.8 and the lows in 19.4, highly creditable performances in light of the frigid weather conditions.

The Warriors' other winners included Marty McDonough, who tossed the shot 52-11½, Rick Bregante, who flipped the discus 141-11½ and a 440 relay team.

The Champion Rams, who came through for important second and third-place points, had two individual champions. They were Gil Noennick, who long jumped 21-6½, and Gary Lewis, who upset South San Francisco's Scott Ellington in the high jump with a 5-10 mark.

The top four competitors in each event qualified for next week's Region I competition, which will be held at the Pacifica Junior Olympics.

Pacifica's Junior Olympics To Be Held on Saturday At Terra Nova High

Nick Gust, the mayor of Pacifica, has proclaimed Saturday as Junior Champ Olympic Day.

The Junior Champ Olympics, co-sponsored by the Pacifica Jaycees, Pepsi Cola Company and the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department will be held Saturday at Terra Nova High School.

The ceremonies will start at 9 a.m. with a torch-carrying runner lighting the Olympic Flame.

The track and field events will begin at 10 a.m. and should conclude at 2:30 p.m.

Relay teams from Westview, Sanchez, Linda Mar, Pacific Manor, Sharp Park, and Vallemar playgrounds have been practicing for several weeks in anticipation of stiff competition. Several hundred boys and girls, ages 9 through 14, will be competing in such events as the broad jump, high jump, baseball throw, hop, step, and jump, dashes and relays.

Ribbons and medals will be presented to the winners of the individual events and trophies to the grand winners.

Robert St. Clair, county supervisor and former 400-meter captain, will present the trophies.

The awards ceremony is expected to start at 3 p.m.

S.M. Wins MPL Track Title

By GARY WHITE
Post Sports Writer

A triple winner and a man who didn't even race, cornered the conversation at the 1968 running of the Mid-Peninsula League track and field championships held last Wednesday on San Mateo High School's windswept oval.

Alonzo Emery, a lanky junior who sports the orange and black of San Mateo, paced Bob Rush's powerful Bearcat contingent that rolled up a decisive 105 points. Emery won both sprints (10.0 and 22.3 into the wind) and then set a record-jump, all of which occurred after he anchored the 'Cats' winning 440-yard relay team.

Aragon, minus the services of San Mateo county's best middle distance man — Fred Klingner, who is out with a sprained ankle — was a distant second with 58 points, finishing ahead of Mills (44), Burlingame (31), Capuchino (28), Hillsdale (13) and Crestmoor (9) which rounded out the MPL field.

The top four placers in each event now advance to the Central Coast Section's Region I meet scheduled May 18 at the College of San Mateo field.

This year's region I field will consist of teams from the MPL, North Peninsula League, South Peninsula Athletic League and for the first time, the West Catholic Athletic League.

Burlingame won the class B championship with 69 points, nosing out Capuchino, which scored 67½. San Mateo was third with 53. The first four in the B competition will also advance to the region I meet at CSM, but the season is all over for the class C competitors.

Capuchino's Cs rounded out their season in fine fashion, with 88 big points in the meet, to easily outdistance the trio of teams that battled for second spot. Crestmoor with 33½ points won the second place scrap, edging Aragon (33) and San Mateo (32).

San Mateo's Mel Williams (440, 51.0) Cap's Pete Aiello (220, 22.6) and the Aragon mile relay team (3:35.6) were the other marks.

Although only one class C record was set — and that was a new event — the young thin-clads let their presence be known.

PRETTY STARLET Jan Garrison indicates she could feel right at home in this modern mobile home, which will be one of hundreds to be displayed at the annual Mobile Home and Travel Trailer Show May 15-19 at Daly City's Cow Palace.

PIETRO REVELLO

Pietro Revello of Daly City died May 5 in San Francisco at the age of 76.

He was a native of Italy and a retired member of the Building Service Employees' Union, Local 87.

A requiem mass was offered last Wednesday at the Our Lady of Mercy Church, with interment following at Holy Cross Cemetery, according to the McAvoy and O'Hara Mortuary.

Survivors include his wife, Palmerina; a son, Leo Revello, and three grandchildren.

DUANE 'DINK' COLLINS

Duane Clifford 'Dink' Collins, 47, 165 Shell Street, Pacifica, was dead on arrival at Mary's Help hospital May 4 after collapsing suddenly while at Alec department store in Colma Daly City. He was a native of North Loop, Nebraska, and had been a Californian for 26 years.

He was a transportation supervisor for the Navy, and a veteran of World War II. He was past vice president of the Paris 'n Squares square dancing club of San Bruno, and a former Scoutmaster of Troop 29 of Pacifica.

Survivors include his wife, Gracie Pearl; his mother, Mrs. Alta Collins, Denver; three sons, Larry and Robert, Pacifica, and Duane III, Petaluma; a daughter, Mrs. Donna Rae Oros, Fort Wayne, Ind.; a brother, Kendall, Colorado Springs; three sisters, Mrs. Ruth Coburn, Fontana, and Mrs. Dorothy Ruppel and Mrs. Alta Kirkpatrick, Denver; and six grandchildren.

CATHERINE O'BRIEN

Mrs. Catherine M. (Kay) O'Brien, 42, of 84 Castleton Drive, Daly City, died May 4 in San Francisco.

Mrs. O'Brien was a member of the Westlake Catholic Women's Club, St. Mary's Auxiliary Guild and the Mother's Guild of Mercy High School.

Survivors include her husband, Thomas; two children, Sharon and Robin O'Brien, and her mother, Mrs. Clara McGarry.

Services were held Tuesday at McAvoy and O'Hara Mortuary.

Mayor Irate In Dispute On Phones

The Pacific Heights Homeowners Association wants Pacifica Telephone to include them in the San Bruno exchange, instead of Pacifica. Comments of one objector nearly resulted in her ejection from a city council meeting by the Mayor.

The San Bruno tract residents made this ambition known in a letter read to City Councilmen Monday night.

Telephones in the area carry the Pacific pre-fix (355 and 359), which, the group stated, costs them more in tolls and causes them delays through routing of emergency calls.

A representative of Pacific Telephone noted that the request was being reviewed, but the matter is "very, very complicated" and technical.

Mrs. Mary Self, a resident of 1999 Claremont, "a Navy wife," complained, "I never, never have lived anywhere I couldn't call anywhere without paying extra."

She continued her comments in the audience as the meeting advanced, and finally was admonished by Mayor George Ingham, who said he'd have her ejected if she did not "be quiet."

Ralston Band Gains A Rare Competitive Honor

Ralston Intermediate School's advanced band, under direction of Robert Cecchini, claimed its second "Command Performance" rating in as many weeks of competition last Saturday morning at Sequoia High School.

This is the first time in recent years an intermediate school band on the Peninsula has been so honored.

Band was judged on its performance of three selections with the judges singling out seventh grader Bill Theurer for his trumpet playing during the band's rendition of Bach's Prelude and Fugue in B-Flat Minor.

Honors were earned in the music festivals sponsored by California Music Education Association. Ralston's band played at Cupertino High School and at Sequoia High.
